QUAKES RUIN NAZI OIL FIELDS IN RUMANIA

Thousands Dead, Rails, Roads Ripped Up in Balkan Disaster

HITLER'S OIL WELLS RUINED; 2ND QUAKE ROCKS RUMANIA

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 11 (AP) — Earthquakes without equal in the written history of Rumania ravaged the Nazi-controlled oil wealth of the kingdom yesterday and today, tore up the transport system, knocked down buildings and weighed profoundly in the unpredictable military future of southeast Europe.

At least 1000 to 2000 persons were dead; the injured and homeless uncounted, and new shocks prolonged the terror and increased the desolation.

The gray-clad soldiers of Germany, who have poured into Rumania for weeks for a purpose known only to Adolf Hitler, became in a few quivering seconds rescuers, fire-fighters and guardians of what order was left.

Oil fields on which Hitler has counted for the fluid without which mechanized war cannot be waged, were licked by flame and littered with the splinters of their wooden derricks.

The rails and bridges and roads over which the German troops have been moving south and east and west through Rumania were twisted and split apart.

SULPHUR FUMES SPEW

No one knew what had happened underground to the dark deposits of oil. In some places where oil never had been found before it oozed through fissures in the ground, indicating a widespread shifting in existing pools. In one area, near Ploesti, sulphur fumes spewed from giant cracks.

More of Rumania was laid waste than would have been desolated in many months of war, and reports reaching here told of damage also in Turkey, Bulgaria and Italy and "catastrophic consequences" in Russia.

Whole villages were erased. Raging fires burned in Rumanian oil fields. Masses of buildings were leveled in Bucharest. Tens of millions of dollars of damage was done to property. Thousands of persons were injured and other thousands left homeless and terror-stricken.

Again at mid-morning today, earth tremors shook this capital, toppling balconies and adding to the death lists which grew steadily as communications were re-established with provinces where village after village reported fatalities yesterday.

Explosions and fires in the ruins of an apartment house where nearly 200 were entombed killed an undetermined number of Iron Guard rescue workers. Bursting gasoline

Smashing Victory On All Fronts Now Claimed By Greeks

ATHENS, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Italian invaders of Greece "have lost the battle in all sectors and are retreating in disorder toward Albania," the Greek radio declared today.

Thus the radio summarized a series of Greek successes which it said had been won in 15 days of bitter warfare "despite the superiority of the Italian forces."

Italy's Alpine centaur division—trained for a year in Albania for a lightning attack through the mountains—was said by the high command to have suffered a smashing defeat.

Large units of the division were annihilated, it said. Although the full extent of the reported Greek victory in the Pindus mountains still was not learned, reports indicated that a large proportion of the Italian Alpinists were either killed or captured.

On the central sector, the Italians were said to be consolidating their positions in the Kalamas river region, with front line activity limited to small scale skirmishes.

ITALIANS FLEE

The radio said the Italians flung down their arms and fled when Greece's mountain troops charged them with bayonets and hand grenades.

Women and children helped the Greek fighters by taking food and munitions up the mountain trails to their positions.

Greece's highland troops were said to have swept onto the offensive along the whole 100-mile fighting front, routed the Centaur division in the Pindus mountains, wiped out two Fascist battalions along the Kalamas river on the Italian right flank, and crumbled the Italian left wing at bombarded Koritza, in Albania.

Principal gains claimed today by the high command were in the Pindus mountains, central section of the border battlefront, where the Italian Alpine division was trapped in an attempted drive toward Metsovon, northeast of Ioannina.

What was left of the division was reported retreating in disorder, leaving behind uncounted dead and almost all its equipment—even medical supplies.

"With this large unit," a communique declared, "the enemy planned to deal a quick, decisive blow at our forces in Epirus . . . We launched a series of counter attacks which we pressed with stubbornness over hard terrain and through bad weather conditions.

FLEE IN DISORDER

"After a fierce fight the enemy forces were overthrown, and, hastening to escape complete encirclement, retreated in disorder, hotly pursued. In their flight they cleared away with them other enemy forces which were landed at Valona (Albania) and rushd by motor car to . . . support their retreat.

"Enemy losses in dead and wounded were very heavy. A large number of prisoners was taken and a great quantity of all sorts of war material not yet counted fell into our hands."

To the west, toward the coast, where the Italians started their first wedge into Epirus almost two weeks ago, the Greeks were said to have stopped another Italian attack over the week-end, annihilated two battalions, and forced the invaders back under heavy artillery fire.

DEMOCRACY WILL SURVIVE, SAYS F. D.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt voiced faith in an Armistice Day speech today that democracy would survive and predicted that the people under the "iron heels" of "modern dictators or modern oligarchs" would "rebel."

"I, for one," Mr. Roosevelt said, in a speech broadcast from Arlington National Cemetery, "Do not believe that the era of democracy in human affairs can or will be snuffed out in our lifetime."

Standing in an amphitheater near the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the President spoke as follows:

On this day which commemorates the end of fighting between human beings in a world war, it is permissible for me to search far back in the history of civilization in order to visualize important trends.

On the great seal of the United States which, for a century and a half, has reposed in the loving care of a long line of Secretaries of States of the United States, appear these words:

"Novus Ordo Seclorum," which means: "A New Order of the Ages."

MOLOTOFF'S VISIT PROMPTS NEW NAZI WARNING TO U. S.

By PIERRE J. HUSS

BERLIN, Nov. 11 (INS)—A warning that the United States must soon recognize the Axis "new world order" appeared in the German press today as preparations were made for a gala welcome to Soviet Premier and Foreign Commissar Vyachaslev M. Molotoff, now en route to Berlin from Moscow.

A thorough canvass of all problems affecting Germany, Italy, Japan and Soviet Russia may be expected when Molotoff meets Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, it was said.

And Turkey, whose pro-British leanings have long irked the Axis, will not be overlooked.

American attention was drawn to the Eurasian bloc and its importance to the further history of the world by Rudolph Kirchner well-known editorialist of the Frankfurther Zeitung, whose opinions were doubtless inspired by the highest official sources.

"The new world constellation created by Germany's initiative will confront America with large and decisive problems," Kirchner wrote.

"The new Euro-Asiatic bloc is bound to assume such importance that the United States cannot but accept the new facts and profit by the advantages they offer.

"Aim of the block is to create a permanent and regular relationship between Euro-African and Russo-Asiatic Lebensraum (living space), with the question of Far Eastern Lebensraum involved as well.

COMPOSER SAILS—Bound for a Caribbean holiday, Composer Irving Berlin and his wife smile happily aboard the liner America . . . shortly before sailing from New York. Berlin said he will "try to knock out a few tunes" while vacationing.

Parade Highlights Hub Armistice Day

With more than 15,000 veterans of the World War of 1914-1918 on parade in grave-faced observance of the 22nd anniversary of the memorable order which silenced the guns of the Western Front a generation ago, Boston joined the nation today in Armistice Day prayers for the future of American peace and freedom.

Underlying New England-wide demonstrations of patriotic groups and Army, Navy and National Guard units was an unmistakable public spirit of firm resolution to demand and supoprt U. S. defense measures adequate to keep Europe's totalitarian blackout from spreading to the Western Hemisphere.

PARADE IS HIGHLIGHT

The Boston parade, highlight of the holiday celebration here, formed at Hereford st., Back Bay, and prepared to swing impressively through a scheduled route along Commonwealth ave. to Arlington and Boylston sts. and thence up Tremont st. to Temple pl., Washington st., School st., Beacon st., past the State House and again to Arlington st. for final demobilization.

Into downtown Boston and Back Bay, to watch the spectacle, thronged a crowd of many thousands, as retail stores re-opened for the afternoon and city traffice, slowed to Sabbath stillness during the day's early hours, picked up its normal business tempo.

PERIOD OF SILENCE

In sober recollection of the 1918 "war's end" that only presaged and preceded a greater and more terrible war two decades later, today's parade watchers were far more thoughtful and less demonstrative than those assembled on this date in years before the Hitler blitzkrieg.

Throughout New England and the nation, a brief period of silence was observed at 11 a. m., the hour the Armistice of No. 11, 1918, went into temporarily merciful effect.

Business houses, homes, even the transcontinental wires and transoceanic cables of the great U. S. news services joined in the memorial silent moment.

ERICKSON CHIEF MARSHAL

Chief marshal of today's Boston parade was Adjutant-Gen. Edgar C. Erickson of the Massachusetts National Guard.

Gov. Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin reviewed the marchers at the State House and City Hall respectively.

In Waltham, youths and men already registered for the peacetime draft had a place in parade line with veterans and other patriotic organizations.

ATTACK SUSPECT SHOT BY OFFICER

Attracted by cries of help from a pretty Cambridge girl as she fought off an attempted attack, Cambridge Patrolman Bernard Gibbons today shot and critically wounded the girl's molester after a chase.

The victim, who is on the danger list at Cambridge City Hospital with a bullet in his back, identified himself as Nicholas Lega, 20, of Jersey City, N. J., who has been living on Fayette st., Cambridge.

The girl, Jean Louiselle, 24, of Harvard st., Cambridge, was reported in a state of near collapse and under a physician's care at her home.

Gibbons, off duty at the time, said the first fired one shot in the air after he saw the youth allegedly running from the scene of the attempted attack on Harvard near Inman sts.

"He failed to stop at the first shot, but as he rounded the corner, he hesitated and made a motion as if he was armed, and I let him have it," Officer Gibbons said.

GIRL VANISHES

During the confusion, the girl vanished and it was not until Officers Gibbons and Joseph Bakeman checked the neighborhood that they found her at home in a hysterical condition.

Lega, under police guard at the hospital, denied he was the girl's attempted attacker.

Lieut. Patrick F. Ready, however, stated that the girl had bitten her alleged assailant on the finger, and that physicians had established that Lega's finger on his right hand bore teeth marks.

The girl told officers she had just alighted from a bus and was walking up Harvard st., toward her home when she heard footsteps behind her.

"I walked faster, and so did the person who was behind me, and then suddenly a hand was clapped against my mouth," the hysterical girl said.

"I screamed for help and finally broke away when the officer came up. I did not know at the time that he was an officer, but had thought he was a citizen.

"I was so scared I ran right home after I saw the man shot."

HEARS CRIES

Patrolman Gibbons said he had been returning home after his police duties when he heard the girl cry out:

"Help! Help!"

It was then that the youth released his grip on the girl and ran, the officer stated.

Lieut. Ready said women victims in recent attack cases would be asked to view the suspect at the hospital.

Death Cancels Reunion of Kin

Thomas F. Cunningham of Jackson Heights, N. Y., who flew here to search for a brother he hadn't heard from since last June, today, instead, remained to arrange for funeral services.

Thomas' brother, Michael L. J. Cunningham, 54, formerly of Hanson st., South End, was found by two youths in a woods off Commercial st., Braintree, even as his brother was headed here to begin the search.

Dr. Robert Ryan, medical examiner, said it was likely that the victim had been stricken by the heat last June and had entered the woods to rest. His body was found propped up against a tree.

DOG CLUE RAISES BABY KIDNAP FEAR

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 11 (AP)—The small white dog which disappeared Friday with two-year-old Murray Upshaw, Jr., walked into the Upshaw farmyard today—his coat dry—thus adding fresh mystery to the continuing search for the child.

Safety Commissioner Lon Sullivan said the fact the dog's coat was dry when he came out of nearby woods after two days of continuing rains caused state highway patrolmen to begin a check of all cars that may have been in the vicinity of the home today.

"Everywhere else in that section is wet from the rain," Sullivan said. "We can't explain how that dog came out of the woods without being wet unless somebody brought him there in a car."

The dog had been a constant companion of little Murray.

POINT TO KIDNAP

"Unless some remote spot has been overlooked, we are forced to conclude that somebody took that child away," Sullivan said. "We want to get the boy back to his family, first, and are concentrating on that."

Troopers continued a check of the area today. Grappling hooks were used to search the test holes sunk by prospectors in the region.

Sullivan previously had broadcast a nation-wide lookout notice for the child, who vanished from his farm home 13 miles north of here Friday at noon.

Sullivan, who heads the State police, declared search of the vicinity around the Upshaw home would continue, however, in the hope that the child might yet be found.

Searchers, who have plodded a two-mile area circling the home, asserted that if the boy were lost, he probably is dead by now.

DOG WITH BABY

"The mother," said Sullivan, "describes the child as 30 inches tall, weight 28 pounds, sandy haired with a little black spot of hair over one ear. He has gray eyes and when asked what his name is he will say 'Upshaw.' He was accompanied by a white-face dog with a black ear and a few hardly noticeable black spots."

Dr. Robert Ryan, medical examiner, said it was likely that the victim had been stricken by the heat last June and had entered the woods to rest. His body was found propped up against a tree.

DOG CLUE RAISES BABY KIDNAP FEAR

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 11 (AP)—The small white dog which disappeared Friday with two-year-old Murray Upshaw, Jr., walked into the Upshaw farmyard today—his coat dry—thus adding fresh mystery to the continuing search for the child.

Safety Commissioner Lon Sullivan said the fact the dog's coat was dry when he came out of nearby woods after two days of continuing rains caused state highway patrolmen to begin a check of all cars that may have been in the vicinity of the home today.

"Everywhere else in that section is wet from the rain," Sullivan said. "We can't explain how that dog came out of the woods without being wet unless somebody brought him there in a car."

The dog had been a constant companion of little Murray.

POINT TO KIDNAP

"Unless some remote spot has been overlooked, we are forced to conclude that sombody took that child away," Sullivan said. "We want to get the boy back to his family, first, and are concentrating on that."

Troopers continued a check of the area today. Grappling hooks were used to search the test holes sunk by prospectors in the region.

Sullivan previously had broadcast a nation-wide lookout notice for the child, who vanished from his farm home 13 miles north of here Friday at noon.

Sullivan, who heads the State police, declared search of the vicinity around the Upshaw home would continue, however, in the hope that the child might yet be found.

Searchers, who have plodded a two-mile area circling the home, asserted that if the boy were lost, he probably is dead by now.

DOG WITH BABY

"The mother," said Sullivan, "describes the child as 30 inches tall, weight 28 pounds, sandy haired with a little black spot of hair over one ear. He has gray eyes and when asked what his name is he will say 'Upshaw.' He was accompanied by a white-face dog with a black ear and a few hardly noticeable black spots."

4 Firebug Sought as 19 Flee Brighton Blaze

Authorities today sought a firebug in a $3000 blaze in a 12-apartment building on Carol ave., Brighton, where 19 persons escaped in a series of dramatic rescues.

A similarly suspicious fire broke out in the same building a year ago and only last Friday another unexplained blaze was discovered in the basement, fire officials declared.

In the latest fire, flames swept from the cellar to the top of the building, filling all apartments with choking smoke.

Paul Katkovsky, 37, first floor occupant, carried out his wife, Elizabeth, who recently underwent an operation, while Patrolman Leo Devereau brought out the couple's baby daughter, Joan, nine months.

Eva Dreen, 25, was asleep in another apartment on the same floor and was assisted to safety by police and Firemen Frederick Byrne and William Bills of Ladder 11, who also took part in other rescues.

SAVES MOTHER-IN-LAW

On the second floor was Mrs. Bessie Siegal, 74, bedridden, who was saved at the time of the fire a year ago. Her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs Max Auswika, were visiting her yesterday, and Auswika carried his mother-in-law to a rear fire-escape, where firemen took her down ladders to safety. Mr. and Mrs. Auswika were also taken down ladders.

When Harvey Goldie, 12, heard a cry of "Fire," and on opening the door of his parents' third floor apartment discovered the hall to be filled with smoke, he got his flashlight and calmly led the family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goldie and another son, Gerald, 14, down three flights of smoke-filled stairs to the street.

Once his family were safe, the boy returned to the house and groping his way back to the third floor, guided Helen Heinstein, 16, and her two friends, Janet Solomon, 18, and Rosalind Freedman, 17, both of Commonwealth ave., to the street.

AGED COUPLE CARRIED

Patrick J. McGurn, 94, and his wife, Catherine, 89, were carried from their second floor apartment by firemen, and both suffered from smoke inhalation.

Also on the second floor, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kelman made their way to a rear fire escape and were taken down by firemen, as were William Diamond and his son, David, 17, on the third floor.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

SAVED FROM FLAMES—Among the 19 persons rescued when a fire, attributed to a firebug, swept a three-story apartment building on Carol ave., Brighton, were Mrs. Elizabeth Katkovsky and her baby daughter, Joan.

WILLKIE TO GIVE PLANS OVER AIR

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Wendell Willkie makes his first detailed post-election statement tonight in a radio broadcast over the networks of the three major broadcasting companies.

The defeated Republican presidential candidate speaks from 10:30 to 11 p. m. (E. S. T.) on time donated by the radio companies and is expected to express his views on what course his supporters should follow during the next Administration of President Roosevelt.

At his personal headquarters, Willkie's aides said the Republican standard-bearer had received many telegrams and letters since the election asking about his future plans. It was expected his speech would constitute a general reply to these.

HAMILTON TO WED SOCIETY BEAUTY

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 11 (INS)—John D. M. Hamilton and Mrs. Grant Mason, Jr., will be married "within a few days," the prospective bride admitted today.

Flying to Tampa from the Northeastern Seaboard, Mrs. Mason answered reporters' questions with:

Mrs. G. Mason, Jr.

"Yes, we expect to be married within a few days."

The two posed for pictures at Atlanta, Ga., but both smilingly refused comment.

"Why do you want our pictures — we're not married?" Hamilton asked before they climbed aboard a Tampa-bound plane.

Hamilton, who resigned Saturday as executive director of the Republican national committee, was divorced from Laura Hall Hamilton in 1937. He surrendered custody of their two children, Daniel, 20, and Laura, 12.

Mrs. Mason divorced her husband, Grant Mason, Jr., of Tuxedo Park and Washington, in Tampa last month. She was the former Jane Kendall and was rated No. 1 in a list of 10 outstanding American beauties in 1937. She is 30. Hamilton is 48.

Mrs. Mason, who was once described by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge as "The most beautiful debutante ever entertained in the White House," is one of the most popular members of Washington society. She is known for her painting, sculpting and big game hunting.

Devens Ready For Draft Army

FORT DEVENS, Nov. 11—More than 10,000 workmen, laboring in three shifts, today sped completion of one of the biggest cantonment projects in the United States.

But in a few short weeks, 30 buildings have been readied for occupancy, with another 100 structures almost completed. Foundations have been laid for still another 300 buildings on the military reservation.

Approximately 2000 carpenters, 3500 laborers and 5000 technicians of all descriptions are employed in the large project, including among its many buildings a $1,200,000 hospital.

Liquor Store Bandits Identified by Shells

Identity of two youthful bandits who held up two Charles st., West End, liquor stores within a few minutes on Nov. 1 became known today through Boston police tests of two .45-caliber cartridge shells forwarded by Lawrence authorities.

Tests by Sergt. Edward Seiboldt revealed the Lawrence shells came from the same weapon which ejected a .45-caliber shell after one shot had been fired in the Hunter Liquor Store, Charles st., 10 days ago.

Lawrence police named the bandits they are looking for and said they are wanted in two kidnapings and one robbery there. One is 17, the other 14.

TAX ON SOFT DRINKS LIKELY IN NEW LEVY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Treasury officials indicated today they were seeking about $1,000,000,000 of additional tax revenues from new levies on such items as soft drinks and securities and increased levies on individual income and corporate excess profits.

They said that, although Secretary Morgenthau already had committed the administration to seek more revenue from the next Congress, no definite tax plan had yet been agreed upon.

Congressional leaders probably will be consulted before any decisions are made.

While such conferences are in progress, however, Morgenthau will present his plan for increasing the federal debt limit $15,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 above the present $19,000,000,000 restriction in order to finance the defense program.

Upward revision of the recently-enacted excess profits tax was taken almost for granted by a number of Treasury officials. From this revision alone, they hinted, the revenue possibilities ran as high as $500,000,000, but probably less.

Parade Features Armistice Day

ices in many Greater Boston churches.

Rev. Herbert Hitchen, long an avowed pacifist, told his congregation at the First Unitarian Church of West Newton:

"I believe we have reached the point where there is only one answer we can make to the threat of totalitarian aggression—and that is in the terms of the same force! Nothing short of a miracle will prevent the Nazi hordes from sweeping the planet and imposing their diabolical philosophy on all people."

In addition to the big parade, World War veterans held lesser parades and other memorial activities in hundreds of communities throughout Greater Boston and New England.

Everett war veterans held a parade and flag raising in front of the Everett Community House. A parade also was held in Melrose, while Newton Center marked the day with exercises in the War Memorial Building.

After the Boston parade, annual memorial exercises of Lotta M. Crabtree Post, V. F. W., were to be held at its Washington st. headquarters at 5 p. m.

Several veterans posts will join in elaborate exercises to be held this evening, following parade which starts at 8 p. m., at the Mishkan Tefila schoolhouse auditorium in Seaver st., Roxbury.

Other highlights in Boston were annual military exercises of the Military Order of the World War at Parkman bandstand, Boston Common, at 11 a. m.

On hand to deliver addresses were Gov. Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin, Maj. Gen. James A. Woodruff, First Corps Area commander, and Rear Admr. William T. Tarrant, commanding the First Naval District.

The Disabled American Veterans converged on the State House to hold their annual Armistice Day ceremony at 11 a. m. in the Hall of Flags.

REFUGEES ON WAY TO BOSTON

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Nov. 11 (AP)—A 6000-ton British vessel was to sail from here today for Boston on the last leg of a voyage from England in which she emerged unscathed from sharp contact with both German air and undersea craft.

About 140 passengers, mostly Jewish refugees, remained aboard. Five days out, passengers said, a storm separated their ship from the protection of the convoy and a Nazi U-boat appeared.

Crewmen stripped the gun aft for action as the U-boat surfaced. The British seamen sent four shots at her in quick succession, but missed. The U-boat submerged immediately and was not sighted again.

The ship was also attacked by a Nazi dive bomber when at sea only a day and a half. Still in the convoy at the time, the Britisher was not damaged.

Bombed Freighter Sends Distress Call

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—A distress call from the British freighter Balmore, 1925 tons, saying she had been bombed by German planes some 300 miles west of Ireland and was in danger of sinking, was reported today by the Japanese liner Fushimi Maru.

The Balmore's call gave her position as near the spot where the 26,032-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan was bombed Saturday, suffering slight damage. The Fushimi Maru, also heard the Empress of Japan's wireless report of Saturday's attack.

Actor Fritz Feld, Radio Star Marry

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Nov. 11 (AP)—Movie actor Fritz Feld, 40, and Virginia Kraft, 22-year-old radio actress, were married here.

Among witnesses were Director-Producer Ernst Lubitsch. He and Feld were actors together in their native Berlin 25 years ago.

STATE DRAFT BOARDS HUNT MEDICAL EXAM EQUIPMENT

Seeking to prevent a hitch in first call draft schedules, local draft board officials today were casting about for medical equipment in lieu of army supplies which failed to arrive.

A number of the draft boards in the state have been marking time awaiting the arrival of the regular government equipment which is to be used to give prospective trainees a preliminary examination before they are ordered to report to induction centers starting Nov. 18.

Other boards have been using other medical facilities available in order that there may be no delay in giving the classification examinations.

Unless the regular equipment is received soon, a number of boards were planning to fill in with facilities they may be able to obtain.

DELAY AT HEADQUARTERS

Under the state setup, the medical equipment was to be sent by the state headquarters to each of the 173 draft boards. This equipment included eye charts, scales, height-measuring equipment and materials for taking serological tests and other technical instruments.

The situation was described as not serious because nearly all the first call men are volunteers and are already prepared for induction.

Still setting the pace among the boards is Board 48 of Cambridge. James Pugh, secretary, announced that that board had sent out classification questionnaires to 350 of the 2900 persons who have already registered.

CHANGE IN PLANS

Meanwhile, a change in plans was announced by Draft Board 128, of Revere. Saul Feldman, clerk, said that the 15 volunteers who have received questionnaires will appear for examination at the Revere police station Wednesday night at 7:30, instead of tomorrow night as originally planned.

David John Byrne, Jr., of Rockdale st., Mattapan, who has Order No. 1 with Boston's No. 33 draft board, has volunteered for his one year's military training, it was disclosed.

Byrne, 22 a drug clerk, plans to make a career of military life, he said.

Tornado Injures 15 in Mississippi

GREENVILLE, Miss., Nov. 11 (AP)—At least fifteen persons were injured and almost a score of farm homes leveled by a tornado which struck the Avon, Longwood and Leota sections in southern Washington County early today.

Eight white persons and seven Negroes were taken to a hospital here. First reports said eight of the injured suffered cuts and bruises.

Draft Hits Men In Professions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Clarence A. Dykstra, director of selective service, announced today that professional men and owners of one-man businesses would be considered eligible for compulsory military training.

Such cases, however, will be passed upon by local draft boards he said.

"The test," he added, "is the welfare of the nation and the community. Although individual hardships should be dealt with in each case with the greatest consideration, sacrifices are expected of every one and the fact that a little more sacrifice is asked of some than of others is inevitable."

Head of Slain Girl Is Sought in Harbor

ROCKLAND, Me., Nov. 11—Dragging operations began at dawn today in Rockland harbor in a limited area after John G. Phelps, 54, weak and near death, had pointed a wavering finger to the spot he says he cast the head of his murdered stepdaughter, Pauline Young, 16.

At Rockland Hospital the self-confessed murderer suffered a relapse after his voluntary trip to the harbor over protests of doctors. They now give him less than a 50 per cent chance for recovery from poison tablets he swallowed and loss of blood from slashed wrists.

Aided by police and sheriffs Phelps was driven to the water front and pointed off Atlantic wharf, while a crowd shouted threats. Then he collapsed and was carried back to the automobile.

CONFESSED CRIME

Earlier he confessed that he hacked the girl's body into pieces, which were found hidden beneath the piazza of the Phelps' home. But search of the harbor for the girl's head had been vainly pursued by police and Coast Guard for hours.

When their dragging operations failed Sheriff C. E. Ludwick went to the hospital where police guarded Phelps. He expressed willingness to help them locate the spot.

Police believe the sack may also contain the internal organs of the girl, which are missing.

Two days before the murder was discovered, Phelps advertised the girl's bicycle for sale in a local newspaper. She had bought the bicycle about a year ago with money she earned doing housework. She and her stepfather had quarreled many times over the wheel, because she rode it so much.

Phelps was found wandering dazed and shaky near his home. He had taken five poison tablets and slashed his wrists in a suicide attempt as police closed in on him in probe of the whereabouts of his missing stepdaughter.

Her mother, Mrs. Thelma Young Phelps, who was employed as matron in the Knox County Home, had instituted search for her daughter by a former marriage after Phelps had repeatedly told her the girl had gone to visit friends.

QUARREL OVER PARTY

In his confession Phelps said:

"She wanted to go to a Hallowe'en party. I wouldn't let her and locked the doors on her. She cursed me and came at me with a knife. I threw a hammer at her.

"I dragged her into the cellar and cut her head off with an axe and knife. I pushed the other parts out the cellar window under the porch, but carried her head down to the wharf and threw it in."

Phelps, after killing the girl, had sent his two younger children, Rachel, 11, and Bernard, nine, from the house while he engaged in his horrible butchery.

F. D., Capital Mourn Key Pittman Death

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (INS)—President Roosevelt said he was "shocked and deeply grieved" by the death in Reno, of Sen. Key Pittman, (D.) of Nevada, voicing the sentiment of the veteran legislator's countless friends in the nation's capital.

SEN. KEY PITTMAN
Veteran Solon Mourned

Reno, [illegible]

F. D.'s CONDOLENCES

[illegible] President Roosevelt [illegible] Secretary [illegible] Senate Sergeant [illegible] Jimmy outlining arrangements for the congressional committee to leave here over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at 5:45 p. m. this [illegible]

Funeral services will be held in the State building in Reno. The body will be placed in a vault in Reno temporarily.

The President sent the following message of condolence to the Senator's widow who is now in Reno:

"I am shocked and deeply grieved by the news of the sudden and unexpected passing of my old friend Key. The nation loses his guiding hand as president pro tempore of the Senate and as chairman of the great committee on foreign relations in a time of world crisis, when his leadership will be greatly missed.

"I personally mourn the loss of a friend of 30 years standing on whose loyalty I could always depend. My heart goes out to you in deepest sympathy in which Mrs. Roosevelt joins."

Secretary of State Cordell Hull issued the following statement:

"I was grieved and distressed beyond measure to learn this morning of the death of Sen. Key Pittman. It was a privilege and an honor to have had his friendship and to have been his colleague for many years.

UNSELFISH SERVICE

"He devoted his lifetime to unselfish and unstinted public services, and we have all been truly fortunate that during these critical years the chairmanship of the Senate committee on foreign relations has been in the skillful hands of a man with the outstanding attributes of leadership and keen intellect possessed by Key Pittman."

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) of Michigan, a member of the foreign relations committee, voiced the sentiment of Republicans generally when he said:

"Sen. Pittman was one of the great figures in the senatorial life of America, and his position in the Senate had come to be one of tremendous power."

George in Line For Pittman Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (INS)—Sen. Walter F. George (D.) of Georgia, anti-New Deal on domestic issues but co-operative in aid of Great Britain, today loomed as likely chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to succeed the late Sen. Key Pittman (D) of Nevada, who died at Reno.

Several other Senate changes were in the offing as a result of last Tuesday's elections, with anti-New Dealers slated to strengthen their grip on major committees. House chairmanships were left unscathed by the elections.

Britons Pay Tribute to Chamberlain

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Plans for a public memorial service—possibly in Westminster Abbey—were being arranged today for Neville Chamberlain, who died Saturday amid the bomb-strewn wreckage of his dream for "peace in our time."

The tall, lean statesman who led Britain from the Munich appeasement through the first eight and one-half months of war with Germany resigned as prime minister May 10 after the British withdrawal from Norway and stepped from his last cabinet post little more than a month ago an exhausted, ill man.

He died at his Hampshire countryside estate where the grounds near his rambling, 16th century home have been pock-marked by Nazi bomb craters. He was 71.

PARISHIONERS PRAY

At the wish of the family, his death was not announced until Sunday morning—after the parishioners at the neighborhood church had prayed for his recovery. At evening services, the Rev. H. R. P. Tringham said in eulogy:

"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God, and no one has worked harder for our peace. Although his work seemed a failure, it was a grand failure."

That and the press praise of Chamberlain as an "honest statesman" who did his best to save peace without attempting to sidestep criticism of the results of his policies were the first tributes paid publicly.

King George VI and Queen Elizabeth headed the list of many who sent private messages to the family. During his illness they recently spent an hour at his bedside.

Official tributes awaited the next session of Parliament when Chamberlain's staunch friend, Winston Churchill, who succeeded him as Prime Minister, will speak in his honor along with other senior statesmen.

Under a heading "He Served Britain," the Daily Mail said today:

"Neville Chamberlain will be remembered as a sincere, high-minded, steadfast statesman. His successes and his failures all sprang from one abiding motive—to serve right in serving Britain."

Chamberlain's death revived rumors in political circles of new changes in the government.

FIRST 8 ITALIAN PLANES SHOT DOWN OVER BRITAIN

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—British fighters bagged their first Italian planes over England—five bombers and three fighters—today, the government announced, as Axis raiders roared across the coast in an Armistice Day air parade which set off five alarms in the capital.

Ten other invading planes, reported downed up to 3 p. m. by a ministry of information communique, were German.

The eight felled Italian planes, it said, were shot down by RAF Hurricanes "during an attempted attack on shipping off the Thames estuary."

The Rome newspaper Il Giornale D'Italia announced Saturday that a "tremendous air bombardment of England and her allies" would be loosed by the Italian air force as an immediate reprisal for the killing of civilians in recently intensified British air raids on Italy.

Italian reports previously had said that a "tremendous" Italian air force has been established near the French coast of the English Channel and Fascist fliers were said recently to have joined their Nazi allies in bombing expeditions against Britain.—Editor's note.

THUNDEROUS BLASTS

Heavy gunfire and the thunder of bursting bombs could be heard during the fifth Armistice Day alarm. Five persons were entombed by one bomb which wrecked three houses and all were believed to have been killed.

Reverting to the mass air attacks of the earlier stages of the war, the raiders hit the coast in strong waves that many were able to count and past Britain's defending fighters.

On one occasion one raider, on another five and again 20 flew across the capital.

Air battles could be heard in many places while Britons stood with bared heads beneath misty skies to honor their dead of the first war on the 22d anniversary of the Armistice of 1918.

There was no all-clear siren after the raiders, but by 2 p. m., the third all clear had sounded.

HEAVY BOMB LOADS

The day raiders although harassed by the capital's intermittent barrage, dropped heavy bomb loads on London.

One demolished two houses, injured a woman and three children. Another salvo fell opposite a [illegible] causing no damage. A third wrecked a saloon and bowled over a bus. A bank and some stores also were hit.

Approximately 160 planes, following up a fierce night attack, participated in the first assault, the British said, crossing the coast in two formations. In the second thrust, 50 fighter-bombers crossed the Kent coast.

Roof-top observers estimated that German bombers roared over the city last night at a one-minute clip, pounding away with high explosive bombs for five hours despite a furious anti-aircraft barrage, but a government communique said damage was not great and "casualties are not likely to prove heavy."

Most of the casualties, the government said, occurred when a high explosive bomb plunged squarely on a crowded saloon on the south bank of the Thames estuary. Patrons were trapped by falling glass and brickwork and an undisclosed number was killed and injured.

BRITAIN SET FOR BLOW AT AXIS IN NEAR EAST

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Britain will strike at the Axis forces in the Near East at the earliest possible moment and is reinforcing her army there with every man, gun, tank and plane that can be spared from the defense of this country, a high British source asserted today.

Anticipating that the Near East will develop into the major theater of war this winter, this source said, Britain must hasten reinforcements in preparation for "a fierce and protracted struggle." He added that Egypt must be held "at all costs" because of its vital strategical position.

He estimated Italian strength in Libya, pointed toward Egypt and the Suez canal, at 250,000 troops plus a group of German technicians and tactical experts.

Commenting on the Near East campaign, experts declared that Britain's position in the western desert was "immensely improved with "better" armaments and defenses."

The position of Syria was described as "fairly stable" under the present French regime. A Berlin spokesman regretted the loss to Britain's cause of French armies in the Near East, the British army there made up of men of many nations and races was described as "as good an army as you could hope to see."

The same source said British defenses in Malta have improved considerably, and declared that Britain would do her utmost to help Greece. He pointed out that "our whole policy in the Middle East is based on holding on to Egypt at all costs." The task of holding Egypt was described as "an immensely tough task."

2000 Dead In Rumanian Earthquake

tanks spat flames through the wreckage, sealing the fate of those trapped beneath and it was not known how many searchers had perished.

While experts surveyed the damage to oil refineries and power plants, caused principally by toppling chimneys, geologists said the earth movements might have made unpredictable changes in the oil deposits which have made Rumania a bone of war contention.

The Bucharest Geological Institute said the earth shocks were "the most severe anywhere in years and the first in a long period to be registered on every instrument in the world." Government seismologists said they originated 100 miles deep in the earth and were more intense than the severe Turkish earthquakes last winter.

In Giurgiu, chief Rumanian Danube oil port, 65 per cent of the homes were demolished. There were many casualties.

First reports from Iasi, northernmost big city of Rumania, told of the collapse of a large hotel in which many were believed to have perished.

SOLDIERS AID RESCUES

In the southern end of the earthquake zone, soldiers still were digging in the ruins of a hotel at Galati. The death toll there was not estimated.

At Foscani, near the epicenter 70 per cent of the houses were levelled. There were 35,000 homeless and at least 22 dead. Hundreds of others were injured, many gravely, and still others were buried.

Tens of thousands of German soldiers quartered in the kingdom pitched in swiftly to help Iron Guardists, firemen, police and Rumanian troops in the rescue work which was hampered seriously by broken communications, including almost complete suspension of rail traffic because of collapsed bridges and buckled tracks.

Some neutral military observers considered the damage might constitute a stiff blow to possible German plans to move large numbers of troops through Rumania for a Balkan campaign. They also pointed out the damage to oil fields might slow down the flow of Rumanian oil to the Nazi military machine.

The quake, whose epicenter was in Focsani, a city of 50,000 in the eastern Carpathian foothills about 100 miles north of Bucharest, struck at 3:30 a. m.

Focsani and Galati, a city of 102,000 population on the Danube, were believed to have been the worst hit cities.

Bucharest's newest and most modern apartment building, a 10-story structure, collapsed at the very beginning of the quake and officials estimated 200 men, women and children were trapped in the wreckage.

Rescue workers shoveled frantically in an effort to reach groups trapped in an air raid shelter beneath the 20-foot high pile of rubble. By some freak, the telephone in the shelter worked long enough for a call to police headquarters for help.

Thirty bodies had been recovered last night from the wrecked building and 15 persons were brought out barely alive. Two others were found conscious.

"It took about two minutes for the building to fall," a newsboy who saw it related. "All that time I heard the horrible sound of human screams. Then came sudden silence."

OIL PLANTS BURN

Campina, a thickly - populated town about 100 miles northwest of Bucharest, was reported to be "in ruins," with fierce fires raging in refinery plants, including those of Romana-Americana, a subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

The United States legation said a hasty check disclosed no Americans among the casualties of the quake thus far.

Ploesti, an important oil center nearer the capital, also was hard hit, while hundreds of roofs and large buildings collapsed in Braoav, historic German Transylvanian city, killing some and injuring a great many.

Nearly all theaters and public buildings were reported leveled in the hardest cities of Galati and Focsani, and scores of bodies were said to be [illegible] already in Galati. A Rumanian submarine base for the Black Greek church largest [illegible] and airport station were [illegible] these.

The entire center of Focsani was reported razed and one of the towns destroyed completely was Putesti, not far from Focsani.

[illegible] the quake in the port [illegible] at Dobrita died when the [illegible] academy here Tuesday was [illegible] army headquarters in Bucharest [illegible].

Panic-stricken residents of the capital were afraid to go home for fear further shocks would shake down tottering buildings. Many sought safety in fields and woods, and invalids spent the night in the cars [illegible] to sleep under a drizzling rain.

The royal palace suffered some damage, but King Mihai and Queen Mother Helen were outside the palace area, at the summer palace in Sinaia. The United States legation also suffered some damage, but U. S. Minister Franklin M. Gunther was out of the danger zone.

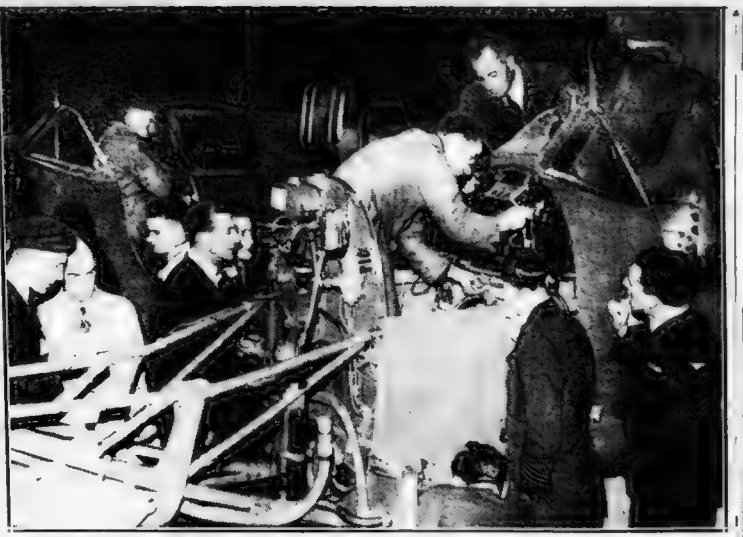
Stores and theaters were forbidden to reopen until crews of engineers and architects approve after inspection. Many banks were closed for safety's sake.

Southern Russia Rocked by Quake

MOSCOW, Nov. 11 (AP)—Earthquakes, the strongest ever recorded in Moscow, were reported today to have damaged some southern Russian cities, notably particularly Kiev and Odessa.

Struck at the same time as the tremblors which devastated thousands of buildings in Rumania, the earthquake shattered many persons here and cracked the walls of some buildings, but did no serious damage, the Seismological Institute announced. No casualties were reported.

Stronger shocks were felt in the southern cities.



REPAYING THE VISIT—Having recently played host to a group of aircraft factory employes at their Royal Air Force squadron headquarters, British pilots repay the visit . . . and tour one of the many English plane factories. Here, they watch the procedure as mechanics assemble a fighter plane.

RED CROSS DRIVE LAUNCHED

Aided by President Roosevelt's declaration that the Red Cross has an important part in the national defense program, the annual membership drive of the organization was launched in Boston and throughout the nation today.

The Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the Red Cross will set in motion its yearly appeal with a special ceremony at 12:30 in Postoffice sq.

Gov. Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin and top-ranking army and navy officials will speed the drive in the Boston send-off.

In Dorcester, the Red Cross Roll Call Committee will observe the opening with a street parade and flag raising ceremonies in front of Dorchester courthouse.

British Fliers Pound Danzig

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—British bomber pilots, battling ice and storms, struck air blows at the Axis last night, "from the Baltic to the Bay of Biscay," the air ministry reported today.

Their assignments sent them as far as the once free city of Danzig, their deepest thrust across Germany, it said.

UNION HEAD ENROLLS—First to enroll in the 1941 roll call of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross today was John J. Kearney, president of the Boston Central Labor Union. Chairman Robert H. Hallowell and Isabel Banay look on.

HISTORY OF A. & P. TRACED BY BARNES

Millions of families in modest circumstances now enjoy food products that were once considered luxuries through mass merchandising methods that The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company pioneered as far back as 1859, it was pointed out here today.

New England Division President J. J. Byrnes told the story on the observance this week of Fall Festival Days by the A. & P.

J. J. Byrnes

"The history of our company is a record of a constantly wider variety of quality foods being offered to a greater number of consumers," declared President Byrnes.

"As a matter of fact, when George Huntington Hartford founded the A. & P. with the first store in New York, his first act was to take tea out of the luxury class and make it available to budgeteers in modest circumstances."

SOLD AT $1 A POUND

Tea was selling at $1 a pound, said Pres. Byrnes. Using the direct purchase method and eliminating in-betweens costs, Hartford reduced the retail price of tea to 30 cents a pound. Similar principles were applied to the marketing of coffee, spices and then to general groceries.

"Probably our greatest contribution to a healthful American diet was the part we played in making fresh fruits and vegetables available the year round," continued the New England division chief.

"The A. & P., in many instances, was the first to bring such produce to Northern markets in carlots during the winter months.

PROGRESS CITED

"Brocoli, string beans, peas, lettuce, tomatoes, oranges, grapefruit, watermelon—these are just a few of the many fresh fruits and vegetables which were unheard of in northern winters some years back, but which even families in the most moderate circumstances can enjoy today."

Byrnes recalled the days when "strawberries in January" were a rarity for the ordinary family and when an orange was seldom seen "except in the toe of a Christmas stocking."

He cited how the same progressive mass merchandising methods had brought canned citrus fruits and juices to the part they play now in diet and how poultry products had been brought within the reach of all for other than the holiday seasons.

DUCKS AND TURKEYS

Ducks, he said, were bought by only a few until the A. & P. cooperated with the Long Island Duck Producers. The A. & P. was also first to bring country fresh killed chickens to consumers in many markets.

"About ten years ago turkeys sold only at Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays and butchers had to charge enormous prices. We began to feature turkeys all the year 'round at prices in line with other fowl and as a result more and more families are eating turkeys and producers have benefitted greatly.

"Americans ate 26,000,000 turkeys in 1938 as against 17,000,000 in 1929," President Byrnes pointed out.

The A. & P.'s methods in purchasing and distributing meats generally and fresh fish, gave more products for less money to more families, he added. It was the same in dairy lines—butter and cheese, and in the canned goods lines.

"We are confident that the future will bring still further advances in the work we are doing," Pres. Byrnes concluded.

Greeks Strike On Long Line

th opposite end of the battlefront, additional Greek guns hauled into position through ice and slush were reported to be continuing a steady bombardment, reducing Italian defenses for a final assault.

The Athens radio alleged Italian prisoners reported that Albanian troops, fighting alongside Italian units, had been machine-gunned from the back when they retreated.

Italians Attack British Squadrons Off Crete

ROME, Nov. 11 (AP) — Italian bombers attacked two British naval squadrons, one in the Gulf of Suda off the Greek island of Crete and the other in the central Mediterranean, the Italian high command reported today.

Two cruisers were said to have been hit by bombs in the attack off the northwest end of Crete.

Italian warplanes also were credited with bombing Alexandria, El Hamman, El Daba, British defensive preparations south of Matruh, and air bases near Cairo and at Ismailia, in Africa.

2 ITALIAN PLANES LOST

Two Italian planes were said to have failed to return from another attack on the British base on the island of Malta.

An Italian communique said the British naval squadron "overtaken by one of our aerial squadrons in the central Mediterranean" was "intensively bombed despite violent anti-aircraft reaction."

8000-Ton Ship Sunk, Nazis Say

BERLIN, Nov. 11 (AP)—A German fighter plane was reported by the high command today to have sunk an 8000-ton merchant ship off Middlesborough while bombers destroyed barracks and other building in two British troop camps.

Informed sources said that, in addition to sinking the merchantman, German planes also badly damaged a convoying destroyer in the Middlesborough attack, but the high command communique did not mention that report.

In yesterday's air fights, the high command said, four British planes were shot down, but it was acknowledged that "five of our planes are missing."

Potocki, Poland's Envoy to U. S., Quits

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Count Jerzy Potocki has resigned as Polish ambassador to the United States, a post he has held through four and a half critical years, embassy officials disclosed today.

His resignation, submitted to the Polish government in exile in London, will become effective about Dec. 15, they said.

The envoy left the capital today for Peru to visit his wife, Countess Susanna Potocki, and their son, Stanislaus. He is expected to return late this month to wind up his diplomatic affairs.

MOLOTOFF ON WAY TO SEE HITLER

velt's United States, because even a continent like America cannot afford to ignore the New World in creation."

TURKS MAY AID AXIS

A strong indication of Turkish collaboration with the Axis was seen in the fact that Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Ankara who is now in Berlin, was guest of honor at a Turkish embassy luncheon.

Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's Essener National Zeitung emphasized the importance of Turkey in the forthcoming conversations.

The paper said that the talk between Hitler and Molotoff is expected to cause nations "at present not involved in the European war, including Turkey, to revise their attitude."

source close to the Soviet embassy intimated today that the visit of Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff to Berlin might result in new Russian-German understandings "safeguarding Russia's neutrality."

The Soviet informant added that he saw little hope for improvement of Russia's relations with Great Britain at this time.

Other diplomatic sources indicated their belief that Russia's foreign policy now is motivated by fear of the German army and that this, if nothing else, would prevent any real improvement in British-Russian relations.

The Soviet informant said Russia felt that Britain had treated her "consistently more as an enemy than as a nation whose friendship is desired."

He cited continued British recognition of Baltic state legations in London despite absorption of these countries by Russia; the freezing of Baltic credits; British protests over Russian presence on the new Danubian commission and similar unfriendly gestures."

These, he said, are influencing Russian to "look elsewhere then to Britain for friendship toward achiving the goal of security, neutrality and internal development."

Soviet Press Prints Little About Molotoff

MOSCOW, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Soviet press today reported briefly and without comment the departure of Premier-Foreign Commissar Molotoff by train for a meeting with high officials in Berlin.

were creating or establishing some kind of "new order of the ages."

But in the scheme of civilization from which ours descends I suppose that we can properly recognize that in 2500 years there have been only a very few "new orders" in the development of human living under a thing called government.

PHILOSOPHY OF DEMOCRACY

Without question, the philosophy of orderly government in which the governed had some form of voice in a civilized society goes back to the days of ancient Greece. We must remember, however, that while the philosophy of democracy was there first expressed in words and on paper, the practice of it was by no means consistent, and was confined to a relatively small number of human beings and to a relatively small geographical area.

We came to the age of Rome—an age of a strange admixture of elections and laws and military conquest and personal dictatorship. It was an age which extended the civilization of the period to the greater part of the then known world. It was an age which forced its own conception of laws and ways of life on millions of less civilized people who previously had lived under tribal custom or centralized direction. Definitely, Rome was an age.

With Rome's collapse and the overrunning of Europe by vast population movements from farther east, orderly progress deteriorated, and the sword drove learning into hiding. That dark period could hardly be called an age because it was an interim between ages.

Then, with the re-awakening of a thousand years ago, with the Crusades, the feudal system, the Guilds, the Kings and the Renaissance, that age which immediately preceded our own was born and grew and flourished. That was an era of enormous distinction in art and literature and education and exploration—marching armies, baronies and empires. Human security was still non-existent,—democracy was not permitted.

ERA OF 1776

Towards its close, however, the appearance of tiny movements in tiny places, led by tiny people forecast the next vast step forward—the era of 1776—the age in which, thank God, we still live.

Those beginnings originated, it is true, in the old world—among the philosophers, among the seekers of many kinds of freedom forbidden by those who governed.

Those beginnings found their freest development in the colonies that were organized along the seaboard of North America. There, by the processes of trial and error, democracy as it has since been accepted in so many lands, had its birth and its training.

There came into being the first far-flung government in all the world whose cardinal principle was democracy—the United States of America.

We must accept that as fact because, truly and fundamentally, it was a new order—nothing like it had ever been seen before. We must accept it because the new order spread into almost every part of the civilized world.

It spread in many forms—and over the next century almost all peoples had acquired some form of popular expression of opinion, some form of election, of franchise, of the right to be heard. The Americas and the British Isles led the world in spreading the gospel of democracy among peoples great and small.

And the world as a whole felt with much right that it had discarded feudalism, conquest and dictatorship.

FELT THAT WAY IN 1914

People felt that way until 1914, when a definite effort was made in a part of the world to destroy this existing "new order of the ages"—to destroy it after its relatively short trial, and to substitute for it the doctrine that might makes right. The attempt failed 22 years ago today.

You and I who served in the period of the World War have faced in later years unpatriotic efforts by some of our own countrymen to make us believe that the sacrifices made by our nation were wholly in vain.

A hundred years from now, historians will brand such efforts as puny and false. A hundred years from now historians will say rightly that the World War preserved the new order of the ages for at least a whole generation—a full 20 years—and that if the Axis of 1918 had been successful in military victory over the democracies, resistance on behalf of democracy in 1941 would have been wholly impossible.

America, therefore, is proud of its share in maintaining the era of democracy in that war in which we took part. America is proud of you who served—and ever will be proud.

SEES DEMOCRACY PREVAIL

I, for one, do not believe that the era of democracy in human affairs can or will be snuffed out in our lifetime. I, for one, do not believe that mere force will be successful in sterilizing the seeds which had taken such firm root as a harbinger of better lives for mankind.

I, for one, do not believe that the world will revert either to a modern form of ancient slavery, or to controls vested in modern feudalism, or modern emperors, or modern dictators, or modern oligarchs in these days. The very people under their iron heels will themselves rebel.

What are a few months or even a few years in the life-time of any of us? We, alive today, live and think in terms of our grandparents, and our own parents, and ourselves, and our children—yes, and our grandchildren.

We, alive today, not in the existant democracies alone but also among the populations of the smaller nations already overrun, are thinking in the larger terms of the maintenance of the new order to which we have been accustomed and in which we intend to continue.

We recognize certain facts of 1940 which did not exist in 1918—a need for the elimination of aggressive armaments—a need for the breaking down of barriers in a more closely knitted world—a need for restoring honor in the written and spoken word. We recognize that the processes of democracies must be greatly improved in order that we may attain those purposes.

But over and above the present, we recognize and salute the eternal verities that lie with us in the future of mankind.

You, the men of 1917 and 1918, helped to preserve those truths of democracy for our generation.

We still unite, we still strive mightily to preserve intact that new order of the ages founded by the fathers of America.

Blessed Event Odds Quoted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—In case you are blessed eventing, the Census Bureau quotes odds like this:

There is one chance in 88 that you'll have twins.

There is one chance in 8800 that it will be triplets.

As for quadruplets, don't give it a thought.

The bureau recorded 41,113,117 births from 1915 to 1936 inclusive, and found only 72 cases of quadruplets. Twins were a lot more frequent with 500,175 pairs, and the statistics point with pride to 3003 sets of triplets.

Food Stamps to Buy Sweets but No Beer

Officials today listed 10 offices where food stamps may be purchased and at the same time revealed that about 95 per cent of the stores selling food in Boston have enlisted in the plan.

Preparing to launch the program for the needy about Nov. 16, authorities also emphasized that beer may not be purchased with the stamps but that ice cream, candy and soft drinks, classified as foods generally, may be bought with the orange stamps.

Location of the 10 stamps purchasing offices follows:

They are: Charlestown, public welfare district office, 73 High st.; East Boston, public welfare district office, 154 Maverick st.; West End, health unit, 25 Blossom st.; South End, public welfare district office, 48 Fayette st.

Roxbury, public welfare district office, 20 Whittier st.; Brighton, public welfare district office, 6 Sedgwick st; Hyde Park, public welfare district office 173 River st. (West Roxbury and Roslindale); Dorchester, public welfare district office, 170 Hancock st., and South Boston, Cahill building, 838 Summer st.

Certain minimums have been established. For a family of three, for example, the minimum allotment for the purchase of orange stamps is $4 weekly. This means that $2 worth of blue stamps will be given free. Thus, such a family would have a minimum allotment of $6 in food.

A family of five would be allotted a total of $9 in stamps for food while a family of eight would have a $9 buying power for food each week.

It was estimated that 35000 retailers have agreed to accept the stamps so that those that purchase may be able to get their food at stores they naturally would trade with.

Private Business Gains 305,000 Jobs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Federal Security Administrator McNutt reported today that the U. S. employment service placed 305,000 workers in private industry during September.

It was the largest placement of any month since October, 939 he said. He added that unemployment benefit payments dropped 29 per cent during the month to the lowest figure, $36,600,000, since December, 1939.

What Next, Little Man?

—By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER—

I'm glad that politics are over, for a lot of people stuck their necks out like the giraffe in the ark.

Willkie will make a talk tonight and I hear that Roosevelt will offer him a big government job. Wendell got 23,000,000 votes and one politician can always use another fellow's sucker list.

Now, you may not think the election was close but I heard Franklin on the air last Monday night and I want to say that Wendell had him praying.

I don't know what Wendell will talk about tonight but it's about time he conceded the election.

I'm waiting to see what John L. Lewis will do about that resignation. John L. was another fellow who stuck his neck out like a well digger looking for his lunch

I don't see how Willkie can go into the cabinet and still hold his position as head man in the Republican party. Herbie Hoover is dashing up on the sidelines willing to offer his body for science and research.

The birds who went way out on the limb to build their 1941 nests and hoping that Franklin will let bygones be cancelled mortgages.

In the meantime they are shaving carefully and using perspiration for lather.

It was a tough campaign and I hope that Wendell's speech tonight on the major networks doesn't wake up the old colonel. Right now we couldn't stand a premature fireside chat on an oil burner

Marlene Dietrich Breathtaking in Keith Film

MARLENE DIETRICH, a long-time Hollywood style leader, established the slacks-for-women vogue in 1933, and here recalls that memorable event by donning—for the first time since then—trousers as part of a naval uniform which she wears in her new starring film, "Seven Sinners," current at the Keith-Memorial.

Star Even Wears Slacks

By PEGGY DOYLE

The screen's kohinoor of glamour-girls, who would be Marlene Dietrich, has rather a brassy setting for her charms in Universal's "Seven Sinners."

John Ford's magnificent sea classic, "The Long Voyage Home," made way for this ermine-lined bit of trivia the other day on Keith Memorial screen and therein hangs a moral which next week's-end may throw some light on. The superb Ford production did not live up to boxof[illegible] expectations, except for the final two days.

It will be interesting to note the customers' reaction to the Dietrich divertissement, which serves as a pet orchidaceous "Feathers" in the o'd, reliable Camille plot with a new hairdo, a revealing-concealing wardrobe and an impressive supporting cast.

Marlegs never looked lovelier, and we don't mean maybe. She is even breathtaking in slacks But her magic spell as regards the Navy seems to be a little too unanimously magical in that billiard sequence. Or are we clicking with a jaundiced eye?

Anyway, La Dietrich mows 'em down without batting any of her fabulously long eyelashes, but doesn't get her man, he being that stout-shouldered looker John Wayne This alley-oily, who's been bounced from nearly every island in the Pacific, is gallantly pressing him up for his and the Navy's good.

As the gorgeous M[illegible] tows her melancholy way alone, you somehow are certain it won't be for long. Come to think of it, she still has a choice, unsavory to be sure, between Miscna Auer, whose kleptomania keeps coming back on him, and Oscar Homolka, a notably heavy-handed heavygiven to lend silences and slit-eyed glances.

Broderick Crawford, a cauliflower-brained sailor, is the glamour-girl's stooge bodyguard and Albert Dekker, who was meant for better things, plays a tropics-debauched doctor.

All of this is no more attention-getting than a 98-cent purse snatching except when Marlene's husky, come-hither voice is murmuring "I've Been in Love Before," "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby" or "The Man's In the Navy." Believe it or not, and if you're a Dietrich fan you'll think it's treason to question her skill, she makes them sound exciting.

Two Thrill Films For Trans-Lux

Trans-Lux tomorrow will present another of its double thrill shows "Torso Murder Mystery" and "The Face at the Window."

"Torso Murder Mystery" screen version of T. C. H. Jacobs' best selling "Traitor Spy" stars Bruce Cabot in a tale featuring British intelligence agents, Naz. agents, stolen plans and an unhappy wife.

The second feature, "The Face at the Window," stars Tod Slaughter in a screen adaptation of Brooke Warren's old-time melodrama

Dante Performs For Newsboys

Dante, last of the world's great masters of mystery, will precede tonight's opening performance of Sim Sala Bim," his magic show, at the Shubert with a special performance for Boston's underprivileged children. He will put on a special show for the Burroughs Newsboys' Foundation this afternoon, just one of many charitable shows he will give during his local engagement.

'CITY FOR CONQUEST' JUST LIKE CAGNEY'S LIFE

JIMMY CAGNEY plays a chapter from his own real-life story in Aben Kandel's story of New York. "City for Conquest," which comes to the Metropolitan screen on Thursday. Oompish Ann Sheridan, his co-star, is cast as his girl who tries to dance her way to fame.

Opens Thursday at Met

Luckily for novelist Aben Kandel, two of his most confirmed fans are gentlemen in the motion picture business.

For novelist Kandel's two staunchest fans are Jimmy and Bill Cagney, and Jimmy and Bill are the intermediaries who were responsible for transferring Kandel's well-known book, "City for Conquest," to the screen. The picture is to have its first real showing at the Metropolitan Theater on Thursday.

Jimmy Cagney read the book four years ago, and gave it to Bill to read. Brother Bill said:

"This book would make a fine motion picture. It comes close to interpreting the vast impersonal soul of the great city, as any book about New York has ever been able to do. Besides, the hero, Danny Kenny, is up against some of the same problems that faced you and me when we were trying to get started in life in New York. And he makes some of the same decisions you made, Jimmy."

He was referring to the time his brother, Jimmy, was offered more money than he had ever made at any one time before if he would turn professional boxer. But Jimmy rejected the offer.

In "City for Conquest" Jimmy Cagney plays the starring role, with Ann Sheridan as co-star.

The companion picture will be Hit Parade of 1941, a musical featuring Kenny Baker, Frances Langford, Hugh Herbert, Mary Boland, Ann Miller, Patric Knowles and M. Borrah Minevitch and his Harmonica Rascals.

BETZI BEATON, featured in "All In Fun," new musical starring Phil Baker, Bill Robinson and Imogene Coca, due Nov. 25 at the Shubert.

Brown Explains Fun Technique

Most comedians are veritable Rough Engineers." They use the conventional technique in striving for spontaneous merriment a technique that is boiled into distinct psychological classifications of proved results.

"That is the opinion of canyas master Joe E. Brown whom All ied Arts and Myers are starring in the title role of "Elmer the Great," the Ring Lardner comedy at the Plymouth Tue. Brown holds that the expert creator of fun makes legends on canvas of comedy.

"I don't mean to say that spontaneous, unstudied wit is not often amusing," the farceur explained. "I'm only trying to say that for sustained fun making by those whose vocation is comedy, he must—or should—have a reasonable knowledge of the accepted rules."

A siren lifts its strident wail high above Boston Harbor shrieking the presence of an "enemy warship." Even as the dying notes thin to blend with the screams of gulls frightened at their feeding, tons of flaming steel go roaring out to sea to search out the raider.

Gulls don't pay taxes and can't pen notes to Congressmen so if the better defenses had only these feathered residents to contend with the skies would be almost a dull occurrence as the forts rapidly whip into shape after a 22-year layoff.

What actually is going on in Boston is not [illegible] of the days when the whole area is [illegible] as these photographs.

So "enemy warship," the 95-foot ex-navy experimental boat Paige, does "attack" the various forts of the harbor defense system and on the occasion of the photo-sequence presented here was madly plunging and twisting off Winthrop while Battery A of the 241st Coast Artillery, one of the special Massachusetts National Guard regiments called into active service recently, put down one silent barrage after another.

The 241st [illegible] men 75 commissioned officers and one warrant officer under the command of Col. William D. Cottam of West Roxbury has been busily engaged in constructing coastal defenses in Boston.

Induction of this highly regarded outfit into active duty was not a little welcome to Col. Monte J. Hickcock, 9th Coast Artillery of the regular Army, who is charged with the responsibility of Boston Harbor defense.

Until the 241st was mustered into service, Col. Hickcock was faced with manning the several the army doesn't like to specifically number the fortifications, forts with the scant 400 men of his command.

While Col. Cottam admits that perfection is yet to be attained, huge strides have been made in rendering the island and mainland forts serviceable.

Understandably, since he rose in the ranks from private to command in 40 years service with the 241st wending overseas duty, Col. Cottam gives credit to officers and men of the command for the understanding great progress made by the regiment in the short time it has taken over.

The complement is stamped however and junior officers cite the 16 and 18 hour days that the colonel puts in to assure better perfect organization.

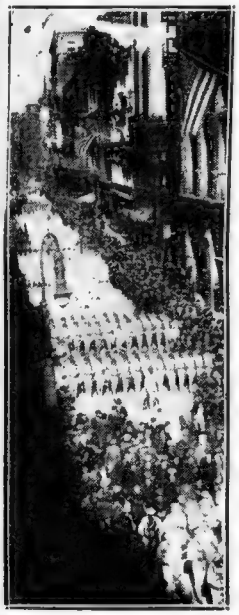
ARMISTICE DAY celebrations which will be held in the United States today are most opportune.

The nation has just emerged from a gruelling political campaign in which there was more than the usual sharp division of opinion, with consequent rawness of nerves and emotions.

This country sorely and immediately needs an enterprise in which it can engage with complete unanimity and singleness of purpose.



WHEN BOYS CAME HOME
They Found Joy and Unity in Grateful America

The Armistice observance admirably and wholesomely fills that need.

This is the anniversary of an occasion which brought greater happiness to the American people than any event in our recent history.

No one who experienced the great thrill of the return of peace to America after the World War can ever forget the supreme joy of that memorable event.

There was no division among Americans that day.

It is appropriate for us to remember such a day, and observe it annually, and perhaps in remembering how happy we were in being all of one mind we will regain at least in part the considerate and tolerant attitudes and dispositions which distinguished the first observance of the Armistice.

This happens to be a time when we have great need for considerate and tolerant attitudes and dispositions.

It also is a time when we have particular need for national unity and singleness of purpose.

The peace we have enjoyed ever since the first Armistice Day is now in jeopardy. The defenses we need to preserve peace are not yet fully provided.

The constructive and co-operative program of government and nation we must have to assure both peace and safety has not yet achieved its ultimate scope and efficiency.

So it is a very good and most desirable thing for us to have, so soon after a period of turbulence and dispute, an opportunity to condition our minds to getting along agreeably together.

ARMISTICE DAY has other important purposes. The millions of young men who fought in the first World War for the United States are still with us in not materially diminished numbers, although they are well into middle age by now and are to be found at the desks or wielding the tools of our professions and industries.

A considerable number of them, unfortunately, are still in the hospitals where their disabilities have been exacting the lingering price of their service ever since the war.

All of these men, through their various organizations, are concerned about the possibility that new crises in world and national affairs will so absorb public attention that their interests and needs will be neglected.

We should not fail to reassure the American veterans of the first World War that they are not forgotten.

Armistice Day does not mean very much except in the United States.

The Armistice was just a pause between wars for most of the rest of the world.

But in the United States it is still the day that honors the beginning of a continuing peace, and we can still make it honor our PERMANENT PEACE.

Can we not unite on that purpose, as unanimously and harmoniously as we once welcomed the restoration of peace?

DRAFT EVASION now interests the Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles.

Mr. Goodwin's inspectors have found fourteen men in the twenty-one to thirty-six age bracket without registration cards.

What action will follow will be determined by the State Draft Board.

During the World War draft there were many thousand "slackers." Some were caught and punished. But many escaped.

Conscription authorities, wiser because of past experience, will probably make a more successful effort to nab the dodgers this time.

On The Side

By E. V. DURLING

ON THE DESK of his private office Josef Stalin has two pictures: One of Peter the Great, and one of Adolf Hitler . . . Taking much of the joys of motoring from me are fellows coming 70 miles an hour in the opposite direction and not paying much attention to the white line. In 1939 by far the most fatal highway accidents were caused by drivers on the wrong side of the road. We shall never have really safe motoring until all the country's highways are divided highways . . . Am strongly in favor of blue serge and gray flannel suits. I doubt I would buy any other kind if not influenced by feminine persuasion. I have just purchased a brown tweed suit. It makes me look like a grouse hunter. When I wear it I feel I should carry a shotgun and have a bird dog with me.

A GROUP of tall young people in Omaha, Neb., has formed a club. They say they are going to have so much fun the "small fry" of the city "will die of envy." I think the feminine "small fry" of Omaha should form a "Cute Little Trick Club." Then they should give dances and parties from which tall women, but not tall men are barred. Many of the lengthy fellows still have a notable weakness for petite, cuddly, pocket-sized females. Especially if they have blue or brown eyes and turned up noses.

ON BROADWAY are two plays described as "Hollywood Satires." I still think a good melodrama with a Hollywood background would be a big hit. I may write one myself. Maybe I could make enough for a down payment on a ranch and three selling players that way . . . One of the craziest things some feminine cigarette smokers do is to keep smoking through an entire meal. When a person smokes throughout a meal it is a sign he or she does not appreciate good food. It's an insult to the cook.

JEANETTE RANKIN, recently re-elected, was the first woman to serve in Congress. Miss Rankin, from Montana, first entered the House, 22 years ago. She voted against the entrance of the United States into the World War. I would like to see both Dorothy Thompson and Clare Boothe in Congress. As for male candidates I would like to see General Hugh (Ironpants) Johnson run for Senate . . . Rosa Ponselle, who had been one of a vaudeville act known as the Ponselle Sisters, made her Metropolitan Opera debut on Nov. 15, 1918, singing opposite Caruso. For this unusual debut, Miss Ponselle had only six months' training.

-:- MY DAY

NEW YORK CITY, Sunday—Friday evening I attended the National Urban League. I am always impressed by the continuing and faithful interest shown by Dr. William J. Schieffiin, Judge Ulman of Baltimore, Md., and Mr. Hollister Wood, together with many others in the work of this organization.

I think the Urban League has done much through the years to improve the conditions for the colored people and to create better understanding between colored and white people throughout the country.

All those of both races who have worked so earnestly together deserve our interest and gratitude. We are interested in democracy and believe that the success of democracy depends upon the rights of every individual citizen being recognized everywhere in the country. This will come only through patient work.

It is most interesting to find how many people were deeply impressed by the prayer which the President read the night before election. There must be a hunger in men's souls for a spiritual note even in such mundane things as political speeches.

During the course of the past few days, a taxicab driver, our superintendent in the apartment house, my maid, a college professor and various other people have told me that such an ending to the campaign wiped out bitterness and gave them hope.

YESTERDAY MORNING we went down to a warehouse to see some of the paintings, sculpture and craft work which have come in for the exhibitions which will be held in the five boroughs of New York City during National Art Week, beginning Nov. 25. Some 62 are already planned and the jury has been going over the exhibits.

I hope the purpose behind this week will be accomplished, that more people will realize when they like a picture, piece of sculpture, or a bit of pottery, that it is possible to obtain it and take it home to live with and enjoy permanently.

More and more we are going to art galleries and exhibitions, and our appreciation of art has increased. But museums cannot be the only market for an artist's wares, and we must realize that many things are made to live with in our homes and not to be housed in museums.

I lunched with the United Parents Ass'ns of New York city and was delighted to have a chance to see the mayor for a few minutes. Then I drove to Beacon to attend the wedding of my friend, Miss Jane Brett, and returned to New York city in time to see Miss Jane Wyatt, whom I have known for many years, in "Quiet, Please."

The play is very light. Hollywood life may be interesting to those who live it, but it does not seem to have much "quiet" when portrayed on the stage. Jane Wyatt is charming, however, and I was in the mood to be amused, so, on the whole, I had a pleasant evening.

NAVY WANTS BIG LEEDS' YACHT

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—The U. S. Navy has made an offer for Billy Leeds' yacht, the Moana, whose original cost was over two million dollars. The Moana, which has a crew of more than 50 men and is one of the most modern vessels afloat, is docked in the East River now, while Leeds is en route to Africa to drive his own ambulance corps for the British . . . The Navy's offer is higher than Leeds' purchase price, and the sale may be effected shortly.

BOOK DEPT.: Mrs. Donald Ogden Stewart, in Hollywood, phoned H. G. Wells at Birmingham, Ala. to ask him to be chairman at a dinner to raise funds for exiled writers. Wells agreed, and added: "But I have to do my own work, too. I'm still writing books, you know. Do you read my books?" Mrs. Stewart, who managed Wells' Parliamentary campaign when he ran on the Labor Party ticket in 1923, said: "Why, H. G., you know I've always read every word you've ever written" . . . "Fine," said Wells, "but even at the rate of a dollar a minute—for a call from Beverly Hills to the Meadowbrook Country Club in Alabama — what's the name of my last book?"

DRAMA DEPT.: Robert Ardrey, who wrote the movie "They Knew What They Wanted," is the author of "Thunder Rock," the play which flopped on Broadway but which has been thrilling London audiences for the last five months . . . When Ardrey read the reviews by the London critics, he was puzzled at their references to the strange ending of the play. But it was so well received in London that road companies now are touring the provinces of England, and the play has been published in book-form there . . . Last week Ardrey received the first copies of the published version. Now he can understand the "strange ending"; for it is being performed, and published, in strict adherence to the original manuscript sent there—that is, minus the last page, which was lost en route.

SCHOOL DEPT.: Dorothy Arnold, bride of Joe DiMaggio went to San Francisco last week for a reunion with Joe's family . . . When she arrived, she startled her mother-in-law by conversing in fluent Italian. All summer long, in preparation for this visit, Dorothy had employed an Italian tutor to give her four lessons a week.

TRAVEL DEPT.: During the last weeks of the campaign Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., flew all over the country addressing youth-groups and counteracting the effects of the attack made by some newspapers concerning Elliott's captaincy . . . In flying to a youth-meeting in Des Moines, F. D., Jr. had to switch planes three times during a night flight of six hours. In the third plane he went to sleep in a berth, and left instructions not to be disturbed. He dozed off immediately—but was awakened by the hostess, who had a special message from the pilot: "Look down. We're flying over Wright Field." . . . "Who cares?" the drowsy Franklin groaned. "I need some sleep" . . . "But that's Wright Field," the hostess informed. "Your brother Elliott is there."

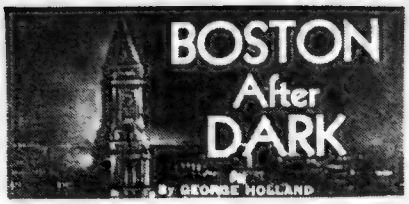
FOREIGN DISPATCH: Quentin Reynolds tried to get some sleep in his London flat before the Nazi bombers would come to wake him. He was awakened, however, by his valet—excited at having received a letter from the Prime Minister, for Reynolds. It was a short note complimenting Reynolds on his excellent commentary in the film, "London Can Take It" . . . "Next time," Quent told the valet, "don't wake me for a silly thing like that"—and returned to sleep . . . He again was awakened by the valet—who this time brought a package from Washington. It was an autographed photo of President Roosevelt . . . Reynolds, incidentally, is on his way to Cairo. He cabled his family: "I'm going to Africa. If I find Dr. Livingstone, I'll tell him that Spencer Tracy is looking for him."



MONDAY MUSINGS: Eddie Mack's sincere little speech of thanks capped a great evening of tremendous entertainment in the stately main ballroom of the Copley-Plaza . . . It was a record-breaking event in several ways . . . First, the check given Eddie head larger figures in the pay-off corner than any in the remembrance of veteran party-goers.

AS MEMORABLE AS ANY highlight of the affair, however, was the generosity and spirit of the hundred-odd entertainers who took part in a fast-moving two-hour show . . . Artists of several colors, including six Arabs—artists of many faces and most creeds responded to requests that something be done to even up in part, the score of Eddie Mack vs. The Community.

AT THE HALF—which was Saturday night (because Mr. Mack now intends to buy himself a little hospitalization and rest before returning to action) the score was one-sided, very one-sided . . . As matchmaker of the Boston Garden, and a sports-promoter for many years, Eddie Mack had gone all out in staging charity shows and tapping his own financial reserves to aid unfortunates who crossed his trail.

AND ON BEHALF OF EDDIE and the committee which arranged the affair, heartfelt thanks are extended through this column to Socarras and his marvelous band of the Beachcomber, to Janet Carroll of the Latin Quarter, to Mickey Alpert, Billy Payne, the Dowling Sisters, Martha Burke and the choristers of the Cocoanut Grove, to Lew Conrad and Doris Abbott of the Vienna Room, to Ranny Weeks, Romo Vincent, the Du Barry Boys and the lovely kids of the Mayfair; to the entire membership of the large chorus—all sixteen of the Versailles, to the Three Stooges and the RKO-Boston Theater.

TO STUART FRASER and his orchestra, and Marilyn Duke, the singer, of the Copley-Plaza Sheraton Room, to Henry Kalis and his band, to the clever kids from Joe Rubin's academy of theatrics, to the amazing Otto Eason of Al Somerby's Old Howard . . . And to the Six Den Mattis (the aforementioned Arabs) who arriving late while dancing was in progress, were sporting enough to build their pyramids and risk their necks without either spotlights or performing room . . . If we have forgotten anyone, please excuse . . . And again — from all—thanks.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: When "Topper Returns" is screened, Joan Bennett will be among those missing . . . Joan was given the story by long-distance phone while she was in New York, and accepted the role . . . When she arrived in Hollywood, the petulant Miss Bennett told studio authorities that the role assigned her was "impossible."

THE STORY RECITED BY TELEPHONE must have been another manuscript, said Miss Bennett, because the flying trip she made across the country was of too short duration to allow for the drastic change which made Joan Blondell's role the most important one in the picture . . . It will be Carole Landis and Joan Blondell, instead of Miss Bennett and Miss Blondell, who will be seen in the picture . . . The studio, for a change, was in no mood to argue.

IN GOVERNOR-ELECT J. HOWARD McGRATH'S board of strategy which steered him safely to victory over Governor Vanderbilt (and a hefty campaign fund), Jack Murray, the unassuming Dorchester young man, played a very prominent part . . . It was the same Mr. Murray who was responsible in large measure for Mayor Tobin's start in politics . . . Mention of the young man is really part of the post-mortems of the Massachusetts election . . . Since 1934, Jack has been the Damon to Governor Curley's Pythias (or vice versa) . . . But an expected request to pitch in and help Mr. Dever failed to come.

Dispute Over Story Separates Them on Screen

FRANK LLOYD FILMS SEA CLASSIC

By Louella O. Parsons

Frank Lloyd

CHICAGO, Nov. 11—Frank Lloyd has bought "I, James Lewis" from Paramount for his third big independent production released through Universal. When Para first bought the Gilbert Gabriel best seller of a couple of years ago there was a great to-do about the elaborate production it would get. So in many ways it is suprising to hear they've parted with it. I have an idea it was sold after Cecil De Mille announced his intention of making "Reap the Wild Wind" which is also a sea story.

Lloyd, however, does not like the title, "I James Lewis" in spite of the book sales. He's starting a national contest among theater exhibitors to help him think of a new name. For exhibitors who haven't read the book it's a gusty tale, along the lines of "Mutiny on the Bounty." I Seton Miller, who scripted the "Sea Hawk" will do the screen play of "I, James Lewis"—which is quite a coincidence of 1s for Monday if you ask me.

FUNNY THE WAY the breaks happen in Hollywood. Good looking Robert Sterling has been under contract to almost every studio in town without getting very far. He was among the legion tested for "Golden Boy." 20th Century-Fox then gave him a chance in "Yesterday's Heroes" with nothing much happening. But out of the blue M-G-M announces that they have signed Bob on a starring contract (yes, I mean starring) and his first will be "Four Cents A Word," a comedy to be produced by Bernie Fineman. The reason is that studio heads took a look at the test he made and went overboard. They think he's had enough experience without the usual grooming process—so here is Mons. Sterling practically a movie nobody yesterday and a star today.

RITA JOHNSON lost no time getting herself a job after she and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer parted company. She's moved her make-up kit to Warners for the top femme role opposite Eddie Albert in "Stuff of Heroes" which is now being called "What Every Boy Should Know." They ought to think again about that title—the original was better. Another visiting firewoman on the Warner lot is Olympe Bradna who goes into "Knockout" with Wayne Morris.

HARD TO BELIEVE those stories that Orson Welles is telling friends that now he's made a successful film in "Citizen Kane"—he's tired of the movies. When I talked with him several months ago he was completely sold on Hollywood and loved everything about picture making. Of course, you never know about geniuses—but if Orson is saying he is through with Hollywood, I bet it's just a case of indigestion. He's scheduled to do a couple of pictures for RKO and I'm betting he does.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Carole Landis is knitting a pair of socks for Franchot Tone. They tell me Carole starts knitting something for everyone of her new beaux—and she's got a whole drawer full of unfinished knicknacks! You can't say Virginia Cherrill (the Countess of Jersey) hasn't a sense of humor. She's sending all her pals that fan mag picture mistakingly captioned "Cesar Romero and the Countess of Guernsey at Ciro's;" the John Shelton-Carole Gallagher engagement was officially announced Saturday when he slipped the diamond on her finger . . . Shelton, Carole and her mother are at Palm Springs weekending in celebration.

BARBARA STANWYCK and Bob Taylor are leading for a month's Canadian trip soon; Ann Sothern is set for Garbo straight minutes bawling Lew Ayres out for a scene in "Maisie Was A Lady;" if the Lloyd Nolan baby is a girl they're going to name it Joyce—if a boy Jay Oliver . . . Guy Kibbee, who now tips the scales at 230 pounds has to put on 50 more for "Scattergood Baines." Lewis Milestone, Jean Negulesco, Fred Brisson, Leonard Spigelgass and two secretaries sailed from Lisbon last week-end for New York over the weekend in search for a leading lady for the Ronald Colman comedy; Burgess Meredith is a flu victim at the Cedars of Lebanon; what next? Mary Martin is taking horse shoe pitching lessons for her role in "New York Town;" Tony Martin loves football almost as much as he does Lana Turner. He flew to San Francisco for the Stanford-Washington game.

CIRCUS ROOM, BLINSTRUB'S DRAW BIG CROWDS

Hurricane, Versailles Present Lively Shows

By SAM BERENSON

Tonight the Rialto celebrates the Armistice anniversary . . . and while events abroad may have dimmed its importance to Europeans, to us this anniversary is a pointed reminder of our cherished freedom and liberty . . .

So tonight the town celebrates . . . with rollicking shows and open house all around the Hub . . . Starriest billing this week goes to Yvette Dare, exotic Latin quarter danseuse, whose tsk-tsk specialty has even her parrot talking overtime . . . for in Yvette and her "Dance of the Sacred Parrot" the White Way has one of its most alluring attractions . . . further lustre to the Quarter's show is offered by Gil & Bernie Mason and the purties of the ensemble . . . music by the Tony Bruno crew .

At the exotic Hurricane, an atmosphere with the South American tang provides gadabouts with one of this town's most alluring gathering spots . . . direct from one of New York's swank clubs comes Madame La Zonga to present the Ramon Talavera dancers, who will thrill you from the very start . . . and if you wish, Madame La Zonga will brush you up on your Congo . . . free, of course . . . that top-notch comic, Romo Vincent bows in at the Mayfair . . . which in justice to yourself should constitute a must for the week . . . by all means see this capable artist during his stay . . . and take in additionally the brilliant floor offering which the Mayfair has up its sleeve for the week . . . The new Steuben Cave shortly flings open its door, with the possibility that Joe Marsala's band will be in at the inaugural . . . a lovely spot, modern as November . . . while the entertainment in the delicious vein continues upstairs in the Vienna Room . . . Lew Conrad here . . . Enoch Light returns to band-business next week . . . Enoch is the lad who was smacked up in an accident on the South Shore last summer . . . Ed Risman, Latin Quarter steward, was guest of honor the other night at a testimonial dinner given by one hundred friends at the Latin Quarter. Three large purses were presented to him.

Nowhere do the turnstiles click more regularly than at Boston's famed Beachcomber, that whicky-whacky hostelry whose success is the standout feature of the 1940 season hereabouts . . . by all means do plan to see Socarras and his magical flute . . . Socarras and his orchestra opened to a capacity house, and without a doubt has the finest tunes that this town has heard in many a year . . . always a star-bright show with the capable music-making of the Nye Mayhew crew . . . A bang-up opening, that of the hotel Bradford's "Circus Room," and manager Bob Appleton is no end pleased with its success.

It's continuous merriment at Morey Pearl's 3 A. Manor over the Fore River bridge.

Hitting a new high for the year is Blinstrub's Village, that gay South Boston rendezvous . . . the patrons here are assured of a wealth of show value for their money . . . which brings them back again and again to peep at the colorful revues which host Blinstrub is constantly featuring . . . the music of Karl Rohde, and Boyd Heathen's emceeing . . . excellent food and thoughtful service are spelling success

"Plantation Days" Ort's current revue is one of the best produced this season by Larry Randall . . . the show is fast and colorful and has a large cast as well as a line of dancing girls . . . in the El Tropico room, two South Sea Isle bands and a gay floor revue . . . Egypt's Dreamwold Hall is winning a nice bit of attention from the raccoon set these Saturday afternoons . . . a delightful place for luncheon, dinner, and dancing . . . Gay entertainment is featured at that friendly little spot, Cappy's in North Easton . . . always plenty of action . . . with the music features of Frank Simpson and the Tommy Ridgefield band . . . Dorgan's Old Harbor House receiving the same interested patronage during the fall as it did in its crowded summer days.

A swing group meriting our commendation are the five lads of the Eddie Watson crew at Alpini's . . . Trumpeter-arranger Billy May has shifted from Charlie Barnet to the Glenn Miller band.

Jot down the smart Versailles as a "must" visiting place for the week . . . for here is not only the colorful balance which makes a standout of a Versailles show, but additionally are 16 lovelies who make up the town's most gorgeous gal-line . . . for the cheek-to cheek stuff, the sweet and very danceable music of Jacques Renard and his pipers . . . And anent the masters of the baton, we do now observe that the long and popular stay of Mickey Alpert at the Cocoanut Grove swings into its 73rd consecutive week . . . and since this constitutes a record for the swanky Grovian chambers, the fortnight is to be known as a "Welcoming Week" here . .

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Good ev'nin' to yo' all! Pardon mah Southern accent, suh, but this week Ah'm Colonel Izzy Ort of the Gawgia Orts with a plantation at 25 Essex St., suh, and a mighty fine dozen of mint juleps on hand! Remind me suh, to tell you how we Orts in Ga'rgia make mint juleps.

Ah'm mighty excited at the moment with the magnificent revue currently playing on the stage of mah Grill. It's called "Plantation Days" suh, and it sho' does bring back the beautiful ol' days of the South. You know—cotton a-boomin', dark es singin', banjos plunkin' in the moonlight, pickaninnies dancin' and everythin'.

Colonel Larry Randall and mahself produced this here production with beautiful scenery and costumes and beautiful girls—all Southern belles from Mississip'.

That darkie singin' soft and low is none other than that ol' tune minstrel man, Clarence Dee mar, suh. What a set o' pipes! What a pretty picture his gold tooth makes gleamin' in them cotton whiskers!

You must hear feichin' Polly Allen singin' "Can't Help Lovin' That Man," and swingtime Judy Kirkland singin' "Sing You Sinners." The show is full of great tunes from "Showboat" and other stage successes. What dancin', singin', and fun!

Up in my El Tropico Room, where the tangos and rhumbas and congas are the rage, the famous Ciro Rimacs have been havin' fun all week. The El Tropico band is a typical Cuban band, suh. Gawgia and the tropics meet, suh, at 25 Essex Street. Come in and enjoy them and see yo' ol' friend, Colonel Izzy Ort! The Grill has entertainment from noon to closing time. Adv.

'Beauty and the Beast' Crawford House Hit

When he rages, the entire jungle quivers! Animals hide away and even the birds subdue their raucous calls to staccato whispers when the gorilla, king of the jungle, goes on the rampage!

All the fierceness of the jungle king, with bizarre horror of a white girl caught in the toils of the jungle, is packed into the blood-curdling "Beauty and the Beast," the highlight of the new revue at the Crawford House. Nothing like it as breath-taking has ever been seen before.

continuing the modernization policies of the Hotel Essex has just started, Henry L. Cook, recently appointed manager of the Hotel Essex, announces . . . The 1940 plans form the final stage in the elaborate modernization formulated more than three years ago. The new work will be concentrated, in the main, on redecoration and refurnishing of all 400 rooms.

Nice goings-on at the Westminster Blue Room . . . a colorful floor show with several top-notchers . . . the Jimmie McHale music for the dance-minded . . . Ella (A-tisket) Fitzgerald a-taskets into the Brunswick's Bermuda Terrace with her smart band and delightful song-styling . . . Harry Marshard and his band will play at the Record-American and Crosscup Pishon Pos. 281 luncheon Friday noon at the Chamber of Commerce . . . guest speaker is I. N. S. war correspondent, W. W. Chapain.

Harry Sher, guiding hand at the Silver Dollar, announces that the sensational Four LaVernes, dyed-in-the-wool Apaches from Paris, whose specialty is the most thrilling thing ever seen in a night club revue, are held over for a second exciting week.

Show folks consistently think of relaxing over delicious Chinese food at Ruby Foo's Den on Hudson st . . . Jack Brown's Casa Manana continues a favorite spot for many private parties.

A new show this evening in Lawrence, where Joe Wagonbeck brings to his Hofbrau a smart, smooth revue which shapes up as one of the Hofbrau's best . . . For folks who enjoy the best in food, Dany Moore's Restaurant, just off Avery jr. is the name that comes immediately to mind when the appetite clamors for appeasement . . . Adrian O'Brien, the radio tenor who is a favorite with more people than anyone else we know, is currently singing at the Vanity Fair on Newbury Street, which adds another reason to the many why an evening there is an enjoyable one . . . The Dancing Kennedys, whose "Poet and Peasant Overture" number is ultra-sensational, are the feature of the current show at Hamilburg's.

NEW SHOW AT LITTLE DIXIE.

An entire new sepia show opens this evening at the popular Little Dixie, located on upper Massachusetts ave. Ten star acts are featured.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

MOST PEOPLE'S knowledge of sled dog races is limited to Jack London novels, movies of Alaska or Byrd's expedition to the Antarctic . . .

But yesterday North Shorites had a chance to see teams of huskies in action—not hauling sleds over windswept Arctic wastes — but pulling balloon tired small automobile chassis around the race course on the Myopia Schooling Field in Hamilton . . .

Eight different dog teams—among them some of the champs of the country—competed in a derby which lasted several hours and provided an excuse for a little private betting . . . Norman Vaughan, a member of the last Byrd expedition to the South Pole, won the derby with his team of sleek black huskies . . . He drove the team himself, and had Mrs. Sumner Pingree for a passenger on the thrilling ride over hill and dale . . .

The affair was staged by Millie Turner as a novel means of raising funds for British War Relief . . . Millie drove her own team of huskies in the derby

Her mother, Mrs. M. Lee Frothingham, who shares Millie's interest in raising and training the dogs, was one of the starters . . . Needless to say, such an outdoorsy event brought out all sorts of sports togs from bulky sensible tweeds to more dressy outfits suitable for the many cocktail and supper parties later in the evening . . . but Mrs. Frothingham's was the most sensible of all . . . It was a skirt and three-quarter coat of sturdy brown leather—the coat cosily lined with sheepskin . . . Her hat was a fur trimmed beret and she wore dark glasses, a custom undoubtedly acquired while racing the dogs in the glare of midwinter sun on snowy slopes of the Norkth . . .

Burrages Among Spectators

MRS. ALBERT C. BURRAGE, JR., who attended with Mr. Burrage and their daughter, Cynthia, wore a colorful violet antelope jacket with a matching tweed skirt and a lavender and white polka dot ascot . . . Cynthia's hands were protected by cosy fur mittens . . . Mrs. Henry Pratt McKean's fur trimmed brown rubber boots were perfect for trudging over the grassy field, and provided a striking contrast to her dressy outfit of red fox jacket and slim green wool dress and turban . . .

Knee length socks, so much in vogue with college girls, were worn by Mrs. Lawrence Coolidge and Mrs. Alfred Sweet, Jr., in brilliant colors to match their suits . . . Mrs. James Sullivan's green ankle socks matched her hat and her hubby produced his ever present monocle—the better to watch the progress of the huskies . . .

For once the men had a chance to wear bright colors . . . Instead of the usual sober tweeds, a few of them were attired in colors as gay as the ladies . . . Handsome Mr. Guy Warren Walker added a brilliant yellow westkit and blue and white tie to his British tweeds, and even had a snappy bowler of the same fabric as his suit . . . George Clement wore brick red riding trousers and Gardiner Fiske a green antelope windbreaker . . .

Joe Woods helped to keep the crowds back from the starting line and his tall blonde wife wore a striking purple plaid suit under a short leopard jacket . . . Between each race Joe coiled a big rope over one arm, looking as if he were about to do a Will Rogers stunt . . .

North Shore Society Well Represented

THE FREDDIE CHURCHES and Freddie Dearborns and their youngsters watched the fun from the top of a sedan . . . and still others in the throng of spectators were Dottie Preston in a striking tan, green and rust plaid coat with a rust turban; Polly Gardiner and her fiance, Dreyton Phillips, who are to be married Nov. 30. Mrs. Walter Goodrich, Mrs. Lawrence Foster, making good use of her stick; Col. and Mrs. Walter M. Pratt, down from Boston to watch the fun; Mrs. William Phillips in British looking gray cape coat; Mrs. Q. A. Shaw McKean, Sylvia Choate, and Mrs. Thomas Proctor, 2d, who was good enough sport to ride on one of the racing teams . . .

Mrs. James Parker, 2d, was one of the cheering throng at the starting line when her hubby set off as a passenger on one of the teams . . . Leslie Lindsey, who is here from London, wore a novel jacket of bear skin over a checked suit; Charlotte Rantoul and Janet Welldon strolled around together, and others present were Diana Bird, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Flint, Reddy Stevenson, Mary Wigglesworth, Mrs. William Endicott, snugly wrapped in beaver, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robbins, and Mrs. Norman Vaughan who wore a bright yellow tweed skirt and scarf with a beige gabardine coat . . .

Columns devoted to "request numbers" seem to have met with general approval, because since their appearance in recent weeks we have had many letters from readers asking that they appear more often. We think the request columns a good idea, too, because in them we have a chance to spread information around to other readers who may have the same recipes in mind and just haven't got around to writing in for them.

LOBSTER NEWBURG

1 lb. cooked or canned lobster meat
¼ cup sherry
4 tbsp. butter
3 tbsp. flour
⅝ tsp. salt
Dash of cayenne
⅛ tsp. nutmeg
1½ cups thin cream
1 egg yolk, well beaten

Pick over lobster meat, cut in cubes and cover with sherry. Melt butter, stir in flour, salt, cayenne and nutmeg. When well blended add cream slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture boils. Add lobster meat and sherry, and heat. Stir a little of the sauce into well-beaten egg yolk, stir egg mixture into remaining sauce and mix well. Serve immediately with triangles of toast. Makes six servings.

JELLIED APPLE SAUCE

1 tbsp. granulated gelatin
¼ cup cold water
2½ cups sieved applesauce
½ lemon
¼ cup sugar
Few grains salt
Dash of nutmeg

Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat applesauce to boiling with grated lemon rind, sugar, salt and nutmeg. Add softened gelatin, stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice. Chill until set.

PORK CAKE

1 lb. fat salt pork
2 cups boiling water
6 cups flour, sifted
2 tsp. soda
1¼ tsp. salt
2 tsp. cinnamon
2 tsp. cloves
2 tsp. allspice
2 tsp. nutmeg
2 cups raisins, chopped
4 eggs
2 cups sugar
2 cups molasses

Put pork through food chopper, using finest knife; pour boiling water over pork and let stand 15 minutes. Mix and sift flour, soda, salt and spices and mix with raisins. Combine eggs, sugar and molasses and add the pork mixture; gradually stir in flour-fruit mixture and mix thoroughly. turn into four greased deep loaf pans, lined with waxed paper and again greased. Bake in slow oven (600 deg. F.) for 1¾ hours. Makes four loaves. This recipe can be halved or quartered.

Cute and Kate Greenaway

HERE'S a darling budget frock that's going to put more sizzle into your pre-holiday doings, and take the edge off shopping or working blues. It's definitely Kate Greenaway in inspiration, with that wide pinafore-like bib. Made of a very soft-textured crepe containing Eastman acetate rayon, it plays dark color against light . . . to suggest a bib. And light against dark to make the skirt panel. Dusty pastels offer pretty contrast for furs . . . two shades of blue, two of rose, or beige and brown. In sizes 9-17 it's $15.90. LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."—Hebrews xi, 1.

FAITH—I never thought much of that virtue.

Seemed to me a poor, weakened, sniveling sort of attitude, the sort of pose you adopted when you didn't have any gumption left in you.

Me—I liked to fight! I said to myself that maybe when I was 90 years old, and didn't have any scrap left in me, I'd slump down and try this faith stuff. But in the meantime—I was going to put all my bets on my two good fists, my good old brain and backbone. If you studied and fought and worked and loved hard enough you ought to be able to do what you wanted with life—that's what I thought.

I was young and strong and very ignorant. I really believed what I said. And I set out to tackle life armed with that belief.

BUT I've found something that will get you there faster than the stiffest backbone or the heaviest brain or the hardest wallop. I've found it. Faith—the Biggest Medicine of all.

I didn't find it until Life had knocked me out and I had taken the count. I got up sick and stiff—gy, but I still wanted to go on with the game.

Could either Life or Death put us out like that without a comeback?

I needed desperately to discover that but I couldn't fight any more, either with brain or fist. There was darkness ahead of me—a darkness my limited wisdom could no pierce nor my courage shatter.

What lay behind that darkness? I felt that Truth and Justice and a greater Life lay behind it, but I couldn't prove that by my equipment. Yet I had to prove it, or go mad with bitterness.

THEN something suddenly came to life in me and reached out—like a great arm from my heart—reached out and out into the darkness, and as it reached, the darkness fell away.

The arm of Faith. My new fighting equipment.

Hold out your arm as you read this. Hold it out as though you reached for something with fierce determination—FOR SOMETHING WHICH YOU WERE SURE YOU WOULD GET. Shoot all your vigor, all your hope and enthusiasm and desire into that arm. Hold it with splendid assurance as though your dearest dreams were about to be dropped into your outstretched palm. Get the gist? Well, that's Faith.

Then how Faith reaches out to you when you're finally ripe for it.

Patriotic Songs In New Book

The songs America loves! Now more than ever before—particularly on such days as this one people are singing them in public gatherings and at home.

Or have you discovered, like so many, that you know only a phrase or two of these stirring favorites? Refresh your memory with our new songbook of patriotic American airs.

Among the first you'll turn to will be "America"—one of the most beautiful and inspiring of all. The first verse goes

"My country 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where my fathers died,
Land of the Pilgrims' pride,
From ev'ry mountain side,
Let freedom ring."

Can you sing our national airs them all the way through? You find the complete words and music for "The Star Spangled Banner" in our new 40-page songbook, Patriotic Songs of America. Gives 37 patriotic airs, two army bugle calls. Has such favorites as "Maryland, My Maryland," "The Red, White and Blue."

What Has Happened:

A FIFTH Column blitzkrieg is under way in England, led by an elusive AJAX, who is more menacing than Stuka bombers to the defense of the realm. The confessed treason of MARA, ace English spy, followed by the murder of CAPT. HUGH KENLEY, have put SIR JOHN SANDERSON, British Intelligence chief, in a desperate quandary.

Sir John's ward, BRINDA DUNCAN, had given a lift in her car to a limping stranger whom she mistook for an Englishman. But he was a Nazi parachutist and, when leaving Brinda's car, he shot Capt. Kenley.

Brinda met LIEUT. RICHARD MALDEN, a former beau, in the Intelligence Office's "rogues' gallery." He told her that his engagement to GLADYS, daughter of Lord and Lady Mountwyn, is to be announced that evening. Brinda had unpleasant memories of Gladys as a schoolmate. But Sir John and his ward went to the Mountwyn party, where Gladys proudly showed off the rapier-like Russian, PRINCE VASLAV, described by Dick as "a sort of society entertainer."

During a Vaslav-directed "blackout dance," a low cry is heard. Lord Mountwyn tells Dick, "Colonel Sanderson has been stabbed," then assured him that none can escape from the grounds.

Now Continue:

MATA HARI'S Daughter

A MAURICE DEKOBRA — LEYLA GEORGIE

"THEN we'll have to catch the assassin," gritted Sir John Sanderson. "If I could only get up—do something!" He made another effort, only to fall back again.

Brinda placed a restraining hand on his forehead. "You mustn't, Sandy!" she admonished. "Just lie quiet; Doctor MacDonald will be here soon."

"Good!" said Sir John! "Best not to bring too many people in on this. Still . . . I suppose it's public property by now."

"Not a bit of it," said Mountwyn "Fortunately, we've been able to handle it quietly. But do you think we can wait—I mean do you feel up to it?"

"Of course. What are a coup'e of knife scratches to an old army man? The thing I can't understand is why I was knocked out so completely . . . Wait! The whole thing's coming back, Mountwyn. You were handing me the—er, the article—when the lights went out. Then you said, 'Hang on to it!' and I knew you thought that I must have taken it from you. Then this fellow bumped into me and I grappled with him. He was pretty strong and he tripped me at the same time he used the knife. My head hit something going down and I passed out."

"Good thing you did," said Mountwyn, "or he'd probably have finished you."

"Little harm, if he had!" Sir John's tone was bitter. "My successor might manage things better." Sir John's eyes closed, his voice died. He shook his head weakly and tried to continue but Brinda silenced him with soft fingers on his lips.

"Not another word!" she ordered. Eyes blazing, she turned on Mountwyn. "Please let him alone! Can't you see he's too weak to talk?"

"BE CAREFUL."

Sir John stirred restlessly. "Brinda!" he called

"Not now," she soothed. "You're to rest, Sandy."

"No," said her guardian hoarsely, "now! Bend over and listen."

Then, in her ear, almost whispering: "You are in grave danger, Brinda girl. Be careful—what you say and do—especially while you're in this house. Do you understand?"

"Yes, Sandy, yes."

"Remember," Sanderson repeated. "Careful!" He closed his eyes again, exhausted with the effort of speech.

Brinda straightened, and found Lord Mountwyn close at her elbow. "Catch what he said?" he asked anxiously

With an effort, Brinda smiled. "Nothing important—just something about — looking after the house."

Lord Mountwyn thoughtfully eyed his prospective son-in-law.

"Dick . . . I'm especially sorry that this should have happened tonight. Not a very pleasant way to celebrate an engagement—asking people and having them stabbed in the drawing-room! I fancy Gladys will be more than provoked . . By the way, where is the girl?"

"Probably with Vaslav." Dick spoke without heat.

"Vaslav?"

"The Prince. They seem to get along."

Lord Mountwyn pursed his lips shrewdly. "The green-eyed monster, eh? Never fear, my boy. I dare say Gladys is merely trying to make you jealous—thinks you need stirring up. Though he has his points, that Vaslav; at least I can understand why the women like him. Always putting life into things . . . A bit on the bizarre side perhaps—some of his ideas—but highly novel and original."

There was a gleam of amusement in Dick's eyes as he glanced over Mountwyn's head toward Brinda.

"Yes," Dick said, "there's no question that describes them . . . You'll excuse me now?"

"Why, yes. Going to have a word with Gladys?"

"No," said Dick from the doorway, "I'm going to see whether Vaslav has had any more novel and original ideas." With a bow to Brinda, he departed.

"Queer chap," observed Lord Mountwyn. "What do you suppose he meant by that? Do you suppose he's really jealous?"

"Perhaps," said Brinda.

"I'll tell you something I couldn't tell any other living man," Sir John said slowly.

"Very sad for him, if he is," remarked Mountwyn. "Gladys will make hash of a jealous husband. She'll like him better if he's indifferent."

There was a thunderous knock at the door. Then the rumbling forthright bass of Doctor MacDonald

"I'll announce myself, thanks . . Good evening, all!"

With a nod to Brinda and Mountwyn, the doctor moved to the bedside. "It could be worse," he pronounced after a swift inspection. "That is, provided there's no infection."

Then to the patient: "You're a hard man to kill, John Sanderson. And for that your friends can be thankful. Because you've little gift for keeping out of danger."

For perhaps a half hour, Dr. MacDonald was deftly busy with antiseptics and instruments, swabbing, probing, stitching—now and then muttering deep-voiced orders to Brinda.

Sir John endured it all without a groan. "Thanks, old friend!" he whispered when it was over

"You'll thank me by taking better care of your hide," responded MacDonald gruffly. Then addressing Mountwyn, "He'll be all right. Save for that knock on the head and the loss of blood, we could take him home tonight. As it is, 'twould be better if he's not moved for a day or so."

THE SAME MAN

"Quite," Mountwyn agreed. "Happy to keep him here. I'm glad it's no graver."

"I'm sure we all are," said the doctor, "except the blackguard that did the knifing. A strange affair . . I wonder by any chance could he be the same assassin who murdered Captain Kenley."

Brinda gasped. It was the question that had been hammering at the back of her own thoughts. Unexpectedly, it was Mountwyn who came to her rescue.

"How could that be?" he asked quickly. "As I recall it, the man who killed Kenley was lame. This man plainly had the use of both his legs."

"Humph!" MacDonald's growl was one of self-annoyance. "You're right, of course. Wholly illogical of me to connect the two. I wonder why I did." He snapped his fingers resoundingly. "Of course! Association of ideas—coincidence!"

"Coincidence?"

"Certainly. The coincidence, Lord Mountwyn, of finding you present on both occasions. Most remarkable, when you stop to think of it . . . eh?"

"Yet like all coincidences, perfectly natural." Mountwyn's tone was cold.

"Good lord, yes, mon! How could it be otherwise?"

Ready to take his leave, Dr. MacDonald paused for a final look at his patient.

"The devil!" he exclaimed, on seeing Sanderson's eyes wide open. "You're supposed to be asleep. Do I have to give you another hypo?"

"No more hypos, Doc," replied Sir John, his voice faint but firm. "I want to talk to you."

"Tomorrow, John. You're in no shape to talk now."

"This has to be tonight."

"Well, I'll stay a bit longer," said Dr. MacDonald gruffly.

Brinda hesitated a moment, then slipped quietly from the dressing room to the outer door and thence into the unexplored vastness of the Mountwyn mansion.

Her goal was the drawing-room. There, she assumed, she would find Malden. For it was to Malden that Brinda had decided that she must turn for help against the unknown perils that seemed to be gathering over her own head as well as Sir John's.

After a while Sir John asked for Brinda. "In yonder room," said Dr. MacDonald, indicating the alcove. "A brave girl, John. But then, that's to be expected—the daughter of Andy Duncan could hardly be a coward . . . But she never got her beauty from Andy."

SIR JOHN'S SECRET

"It's about Brinda I want to talk to you, Alec. And also about her mother." He looked at the doctor strangely. "Alec, do you believe in fate—I mean the kind of fate that lays out our lives ahead of us?"

The physician's face set stubbornly. "As an old soldier, maybe; but as a man of science, no. Fate's just another name we give to heredity—a blessing to some, a curse to others. But it's all heredity, John—all heredity."

"Heredity!" Sir John pondered the word. "I've heard you say something like that before, Alec. In fact, it's by way of being a hobby of yours, isn't it?"

"You could call it that."

"Well, that's one reason why I need your advice."

"But why must you have it tonight? As your physician, John, let me suggest you just go to sleep. We can talk about heredity any time."

Sir John shook his head weakly. "No, I have to get this off my mind, one way or another. Certain things have happened—things that make it necessary."

"What things?"

"Kenley's murder, for one."

The doctor looked at him with concern. "If your temperature were a half degree higher, I'd think you were delirious, John. What in the name of reason has Kenley's murder to do with your ward and with heredity?"

"I'll tell you something I couldn't tell any other living man," Sir John said slowly.

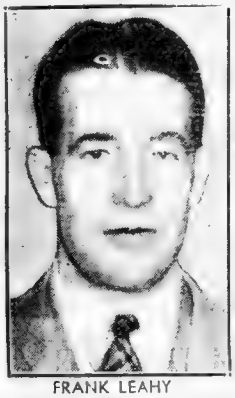
Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

BOSTON COLLEGE will receive more national football attention on Saturday when it opposes Georgetown than it has at any time . . . Georgetown has one of the great gridiron teams of the country, while the Eagles have gone through the season without a defeat.



FRANK LEAHY

Frank Leahy has succeeded in lifting the football rating of Boston College during the two seasons he has been coaching at the Heights . . . Leahy's team will meet its greatest test when it tangles with sensational Georgetown . . . It is likely that Georgetown will enter the game a slight betting choice in view of its long run of victories—the mark is now 23 games . . . Tulane was also a choice over the Eagles and lost.

Boston College did not look as impressive against Boston University as it did in some of its earlier games . . . I think Boston University was under-rated . . . The Boston College clash is a key game for the Terriers, and they always rise to great heights in it . . . Pat Hanley is one of the most skillful coaches in the country . . . Pat had ample opportunities to get a line on the Boston College plays, and he had the necessary defenses.

If Pat had top material, Boston University would have a chance of beating any eleven in the country . . . Hanley would give his club the necessary winning plays . . . This season Boston University was handicapped by lack of experienced players, and also by injuries, but it still managed to come up with a smashing game against Boston College.

It was better for Boston College to have a let-down against Boston University rather than have an off day against Georgetown . . . Leahy is an inspirational type of coach, and he is certain to bring his players into the Georgetown game prepared to show at their best.

Fenway Park will be taxed to capacity at the Boston College-Georgetown game . . . The affair is certain to be a sellout . . . In the press box will be sports writers from all parts of the East . . . The game gives Boston College an opportunity to increase its football standing.

Harvard Develops a Real Attack

HARVARD DISPLAYED a powerful attack as it furnished one of the big surprises last Saturday when it held Penn to a 10 to 10 tie . . . In the Army, Dartmouth and Princeton games, the Crimson proved it had a splendid line, but it lacked a backfield punch . . . Charley Sprever played brilliantly for Harvard on Saturday, and looked even better than Frank Reagan of Penn, All-America candidate.

The improved showing of Harvard in recent games is a tribute to the patience and coaching ability of Dick Harlow . . . Harlow has been obliged to develop new material, and get his players working as a team . . . The victory of the Penn game shows how well Harlow has succeeded . . . Harvard can still gain some football glory by winning its remaining games which are with Brown on Saturday at the Stadium, and with Yale at New Haven on the following Saturday.

Harvard would do much better in its early season games if the date for the opening of football practice was made September 1 instead of September 15 . . . The Harvard players are asked to participate in hard games before they are able to get themselves into proper physical condition . . . In justice to the physical welfare of its players, Harvard should move up football practice to September 1 . . . Such a change would also give Harlow a better opportunity to drill his youthful charges in the plays which they would later use.

EVEN THOUGH Minnesota only defeated Michigan by a score of 7 to 6 it proved it rates with Cornell, Stanford, Notre Dame,

EAGLES, PURPLE FROSH ON PARADE AT HEIGHTS

When the Boston College and Holy Cross Freshman elevens clash at Alumni Field this afternoon the expected 10,000 turnout will be watching one of the nation's top annual year-ling contests.

NINE-YARD GAIN. Cavallo of Weymouth goes for nine yards against Dedham. Latter was undefeated before game but Cavallo and Company set them back to the tune of 12 to 0. Harry Arlanson, old Tufts ace, is Weymouth coach.

Today's game gives promise of continuing the annual class evident at any and all Boston College-Holy Cross competitions.

Coach Tom Power's Eaglets enter the clash an undefeated and untied eleven. The Eaglets are the daily practice opponents of the Frank Leahy nationally ranked varsity.

In three games the young Eagles have ripped through Marionapolis Academy (6-0), Dartmouth Freshmen (12-0), and the Boston University first year team (14-2). On the basis of what today's opponents did against the Dartmouth cubs, Boston College is a pre-game favorite.

Against an opponent which fell victim to the Eaglets by three points, the Crusader Cubs went down before Dartmouth 19-7.

As is usually the case both teams this afternoon will feature many former local high school standouts.

Holy Cross will depend upon Johnny Stanavitch for lots of its offense. Lowell Journy, a 170-pound halfback, can run, kick and pass. He's rated the dynamite of the Crusader offense.

When Stanavitch isn't popping, Ronald "Red" Sinnes, former Boston College High School standout, can be depended upon to bother the Eaglets.

"Red" is rated one of the greatest backs ever to graduate from the ranks of the Boston High school system. Chuck Hoar is another "best bet" in the Cross backfield.

The undefeated untied locals aren't exactly strangers themselves.

In the local line Gil Bouley, from Norwich Ct., is regarded as sure for varsity talent next year. A 220-pound giant, Gil plays tackle and lots of it.

Patsy Darone (Malden) and Lanky Blanchard (Quincy), Eaglets guards are tough to beat, while Arnie Nicketakis, a rocking and passing end from Lynn is another lofty piece of potential varsity timber.

Among the Eaglet backs, Slim Sisti, dead-eye Eddie Doherty, triple threat from Arlington, Jimmy Benedetto, sturdy hard running wingback from Swampscott, Chris Quinn, powerful two-fisted blocker from Peabody, Jim Burns, [illegible] and Bill Wasilewski [illegible] Eaglets have yet [illegible] victory, the pass-happy Crusaders [illegible] for an [illegible] Holy Cross grid conquest over Boston College for the year, 1940.

Rindge, Cantabs Battle for Title

By SAM BROGNA

Wildly countless schoolboy followers still are rubbing incredulous eyes following Saturday's encounters which saw Everett High, pre-season favorite to win the State championship, toppled from the undefeated ranks and Arlington definitely bowing out of the title picture with a stunning upset handed by Salem, the scholastic gridsters pitched into another day of gridiron warfare on this Armistice Day.

[illegible] in two starring roles [illegible] up in rating as one of Cambridge [illegible] league contenders. One [illegible] championship and the three-way tie for the leadership in the Catholic loop, no major issues were at stake.

The city crown of Cambridge was [illegible] between Rindge Tech and Cambridge Latin, last game being played on Russell field. As [illegible] Rindge is going after its [illegible] gridiron [illegible] appointment, [illegible] the interest it held during [illegible] years. Rindge has taken its [illegible] and today ruled a slight favorite [illegible] win.

Both teams are experiencing [illegible] good campaigns in years. The Cantabs have been above [illegible] mark, with the Latin boys [illegible] seven games. It was a 13 to 12 setback [illegible] Lawrence Coes [illegible] Rindge boys [illegible] played [illegible] deadlock with Malden Catholic.

Rindge has [illegible] slightly better [illegible] records, although nothing to [illegible] about. In six games played the Technicians were able to win two, losing the other four.

In the Catholic circuit, it's St. Mary's of Waltham at Malden Catholic, St. Mary's of Brookline at Mission Church Cathedral at St. Charles of Waltham.

The two St. Mary's teams and Malden are deadlocked for the lead with two wins and one loss apiece.

The Malden eleven, defending champions which lost its first league game since 1938 against Keith Academy a week back, was a slight favorite to trip the Saints from Waltham. The Brookline Saints, who rode through their first five games without suffering a defeat until they met Malden Catholic two weeks ago, were expected to take Mission into camp, and Cathedral, unable to even break into the scoring column against league opponents since the start of the season, was hardly likely to do so against St. Charles.

Other games that are slate to produce plenty of fireworks are Gloucester at Amesbury, Norwood at Natick, Wellesley at Winchester, Whitman at North Quincy, Gardner at Leominster and Manchester Central of New Hampshire at Brockton.

DUKES VICTORIOUS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11 (INS)—Duquesne's Dukes defeated the St. Mary's galloping Gaels, 7 to 6, before a crowd of 18,000 in Kezar stadium.

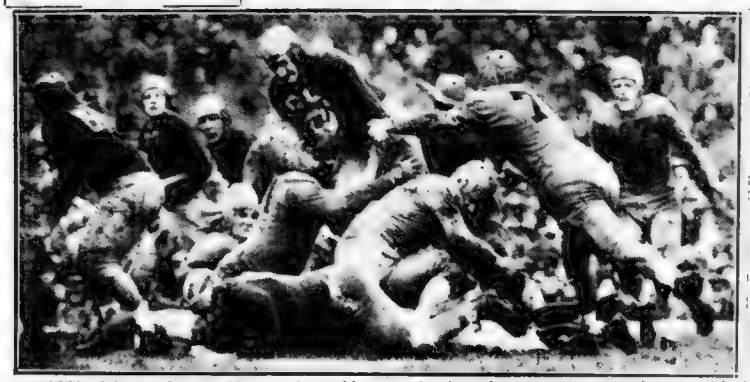
Harmon's Turn For Off Day

B. C.'s Rose Bowl Hopes Dashed



STOPPED COLD. Tommy Harmon is unable to gain through stout Minnesota line in mid-west classic. Slippery field handicapped Michigan's all-America back, and the Gophers won 7 to 6. Gathering of 63,000 saw the game. One week ago, while Harmon starred, Michigan stopped Penn's great Reagan.

Milwaukee Retains Spot in League

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Milwaukee chiefs remained in second place in the American Professional Football League with a 30 to 7 victory over the New York Yankees, exactly reversing the score at New York three weeks ago.

B. C. Sets Scoring Pace In East

By the Associated Press

The football powerhouse at Boston College still is showing the way to the other aspiring elevens in the East with seven straight victories and 261 points to 27 for the opposition.

However, eight other teams, including Cornell, Georgetown and Lafayette, are still among the section's undefeated and untied elite.

The select society was reduced over the week-end by Penn State's tie and the defeat of Franklin and Marshall, Moravian, Bethany and Rensselaer Polytechnic. The leaders:

Bates, Colby Meet on Grid

The Maine State League affair will be settled today with Bates battling Colby in the final game. Bowdoin as a result of its 19 to 0 win over Maine Saturday is assured of at least a tie.

If Colby wins today it will be deadlocked with Bowdoin for the second successive year but a tie or a loss will give the Polar Bears undisputed leadership.

Other small college games along the New England front saw Rhode Island spot Connecticut 12 points and then go to win 13 to 12; American International wins its fourth in a row by downing Panzer and a lowly Middlebury team still seeking its first victory after a 33 to 0 debacle in the hands of Coast Guard.

Seven Teams Eliminated In Crash

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—When a team gets into November without losing a football game, it has to be good. That is seen this week in the way seven teams were eliminated from the lists of the nation's undefeated and untied teams.

Only two colleges of "major" rating were dropped as the list dwindled to 24. Michigan lost a 7-6 decision to Minnesota, also unbeaten and untied, after outplaying the Gophers practically all the way and Penn State was tied 13-13 by Syracuse, a team that boasts it loses "only to champions."

Kent State of Ohio, which topped the list a week ago, Franklin and Marshall, Rensselaer Tech and Bethany of West Virginia were the others which suffered their first defeats.

F. & M., upsetter of two "big-time" rivals, finally bowed 12-0 to New York University. The others, except Kent State, bowed by narrow margins to rivals in their own class, Moravian dropping a 6-0 decision to tied but unbeaten Susquehanna. Kent State took a 23-7 defeat from a bigger Ohio rival, Akron.

The undefeated and untied teams:

DEAL FOR YANKS VERY MUCH ALIVE, SAYS JIM FARLEY

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11 (AP)—James A. Farley went into conference today with Smith Davis, Cleveland broker, to discuss what Davis called the "final stages" of transferring the New York Yankees Baseball Organization to a syndicate of investors.

"I can't discuss it," Farley told newsmen as he arrived by train from New York. "The last word will come from the Yankee management and not from me.

"But the deal is not dead—as some reports have had it. It's still very much alive."

Farley, former Postmaster-General, is expected to be active head of the new organization.

The syndicate is reported putting $3,500,000 to $4,000,000 into the deal to take the Yankee properties from the estate of Jacob Ruppert, New York brewer.

Davis declined to name any of the men involved, but they were understood to live in several different cities.

The broker predicted the purchase would be consummated "before the end of this month," although certain details remained to be worked out.

Farley is also now connected with the Coca Cola interests.

The former chairman of the Democratic national committee exchanged political pleasantries in the East Cleveland railroad station with George H. Bender, Ohio congressman-at-large and chairman of the Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) Republican committee.

Bender happened to be arriving at the same time.

Cote Cops Marathon; Pawson 3d

YONKERS, N. Y., Nov. 11 (AP)—Gerard Cote, a sturdy little man from St. Hyacinthe, Que., seems to have taken charge of the sport of Marathon running, which has a surprisingly large number of addicts who are willing to run 26 miles and 385 yards in order to win a medal.

Cote became the first runner ever to win both the famed Boston Marathan and the National A. A. U. championship when he led a field of 80 runners in the A. A. U. title event at the Empire City race track.

Running in the lead or near it over the entire course, he covered the distance in 2 hours 34 minutes 6.2 seconds, finishing several hundred yards ahead of Lou Gregory of New York, who had kept pace with him up to the last mile.

Cote's time was one minute slower than the record set last year by the late Pat Dengis of Baltimore. The Canadian had finished second in four previous Yonkers races.

Third place went to Leslie Pawson of Pawtucket, R. I., with Fred McGlone and Frank Darrah of Roxbury, Mass., fourth and fifth. Don Heinicke of Baltimore was sixth, and John Kelley of Boston, another veteran, seventh. Thirty-nine runners finished the grind.

The team title went to the Roxbury, Mass., Y. M. A., with 10 points, to 18 for the Boston A. A.

La Salle Eleven Whips Providence

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 11 (AP)—La Salle College of Philadelphia defeated Providence College 13-7 when Mike Mandarino blocked Ed Quegan's punt late in the fourth period and recovered in the Friar end zone.

The explorers scored the first time they got the ball, travelling 38 yards, 14 of them on a Paul Prettyman to Capt. John Pilconis pass. Knute Gidjunis scored over the Friars right tackle on a cutback from the three. Prettyman's attempted drop kick was blocked.

Providence marched 80 yards for its touchdown.

SPORT-O-GRIMES

All Hail Harvard For Tying Penn

Brown Bear Wallops Army With One Paw

Dick Harlow and his vastly under-rated Harvardians furnished the most startling upset of the week-end by battling Penn to a 10-10 deadlock.

Referee Red Friesell should live to see the day that he can leave "Bucky" McDonald holding the bag for that mixup on the off side in the Harvard-Penn game.

Apparently, the Roto cap writer isn't a baseball fan or he'd have known that Joe Casey didn't acquire those wrinkles squinting at glaring roofs in the Navy Yard . . . One of Johnny Drohan's ulcers kicked up and the eminent baseball writer is at the Carney Hospital.

Kevin Mulcahy, the former Winthrop High star, was the best ball carrier Coach Joe Sheeketski had on the field against Ole Miss . . . "Mul" was forced to retire due to a leg injury and the Crusader attack bogged down.

The Brown Bear licked the Army Mule with one paw tied behind its back . . . Dick High, the Brooklin boy, who played the leading role in Brown's victories over Holy Cross and Yale, didn't play.

Paul Thompson will lead his Chicago Blackhawks into town tonight for the N. H. L. opener tomorrow at the Garden . . . Frank Cavallo, the Weymouth High quarterback, will probably follow in the path of his brother Mike, at Lafayette . . . The New Yorkers are getting fed up on the uninteresting type of football offered by Fordham . . . They see too much of the wide open pro game.

Walter "Turk" Broda came up with his first shut out of the season against Detroit . . . The fans are wondering if it was the weather or the Gophers that stopped Tom Harmon . . . Because of Tom's failure to click a year ago, they'll probably credit Minnesota.

You'll look at a lot of centers before coming across the peer of Jack Daly, Williams . . . Al McCoy's Colby Mules must beat the Bates Bobcats today to tie Bowdoin for the state title.

Wonder if 43-41 was the correct score of the Manhattan-Marquette . . . Tallying points in that game was a job for a C. P. A., not a sports writer.

If he picks up a big league job Bill Meyer, manager of the Kansas City Blues, will soon discover that the New York Yankees have the best farm system in baseball and that the Yankee scouts, not he, were responsible for the success of his Blues.

BILL GRIMES.

SPOTLIGHT FOCUSED ON PURES IN ARENA TOURNEY TONIGHT

By JACK CONWAY

All-America amateur boxing, sponsored by the American-Record and staged with the cooperation of the Irish-American A. C., will get under way at the Arena tonight at a tournament that is sure to furnish intense ring action.

Boxers from all sections of the tournament will toss leather.

There will be bouts for experienced amateur boxers in all eight of the championship classes. The crowd that will be in the Arena tonight will see amateurs from flyweights to heavyweights exchanging blows and engaging in tests of boxing skill.

The novices, those human little buzzsaws who delight in torried exchanges of blows, have not been forgotten. There will be bouts for these future greats at 112, 126, 147 and at 175 pounds.

As in former years, the trial bouts and also the New England finals in the All-America tournament are being offered at the attractive price scale of 55 cents to $1.10.

FOLKS FOLLOW PURES

It is the desire of the committee in charge of the tournament to give everyone who wishes to do so an opportunity to see the action at a reasonable price.

All-America tournaments have a distinctive following. Thousands of people will not miss one of these shows.

This tournament is open to any amateur boxer in New England. There will be four sets of trial bouts to be followed by the New England finals at the Garden on Dec. 9. Then will come the Eastern finals at the Garden on Dec. 19, and the grand national finals at the Garden on Jan. 27.

The leading amateur champions from all parts of the United States will take part in this tournament. I feel that our New England boxers will give an excellent account of themselves against this top competition.

SANTES ENTERED

Among the late entries received for tonight are Santes, Boston in the 112 open;—Paul Bangs, Cambridge; Charles Fories, CCC; Beckett, Mass.; Joe Bannen, Jamaica Plain and Joe Landry, Gardner and John Cannellan, Lowell in the 118; Jackie Heard, Boston, runner-up in the N. E. All-American finals last year and George Karis, Lowell, in the 126.

Win Hector, Boston; Steve Bomel, Lowell, Golden Gloves champion and Mike Dilli, Lowell in the 135. James Taylor, Lowell; Mike Cocozza, colorful Haverhill hitter and Mike Cascio, Boston in the 147; Edward Yankin, Cambridge in the 160; James Griffin, Lawrence in the 175 and Bernard McNally, Cambridge, heavyweight.

All-America Entry Blank

The following classes will be contested in tryouts in the American-Record All-America boxing shows at Arena, Nov. 11, Nov. 18, Nov. 25, Dec. 2.

112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160 and 175 pounds and heavyweight

Dodgers Trip Redskins

By International News Service

The witticism that "everything happens in Brooklyn" still held good today after the Brooklyn Dodgers did what everyone was beginning to believe impossible—beat Slingin' Sammy Baugh and the Washington Redskins in a National Professional Football League game.

The Redskins had won seven consecutive games and were here due to Brooklyn. Twice, before 23,316 fervid fans, the Detroit Lions pulled back the Maroon clad foe from an early lead to win a thrilling game, 16 to 14 being the final score.

The victory, which kept Brooklyn's slim championship hopes flickering, resulted primarily from a safety which was registered when Dick Todd, Washington halfback, after recovering a bad pass from center, was tackled in his own end zone. The act provided Brooklyn with the two winning points.

CUFF IN HOSPITAL

Baugh, who passed 20 yards to Bob Masterson for one Washington touchdown, established a new league record by completing 22 passes in one game. The old mark of 21 completions was set last year by Davey O'Brien of Philadelphia.

The win also put the Dodgers back in second place behind the Redskins in the eastern division. New York Giants dropped into third place by losing to the Cleveland Rams before 23,611 fans.

Ward Cuff, Giants' halfback, was sent to a hospital suffering from a spinal injury as a result of a mishap in the game.

Detroit Lions helped tighten the western division race by rallying in the final 26 seconds to beat the leading Chicago Bears, 17 to 14. The Bears' loss and the Green Bay Packers' 28 to 7 win over the Chicago Cardinals left the Bears with only a one-game lead.

Cotton Price, an unheralded passer from Texas A. & M., flipped a short 3-yard aerial to Lloyd Cardwell in the waning minutes to give the Lions the victory.

EIGHTH STRAIGHT LOSS!

Whizzer White scored a touchdown, and Chuck Hanneman booted a 32-yard field goal for Detroit's other points. Ray McLean and Gary Famiglietti scored one touchdown each for the Bears.

The Packers turned on the heat and pushed over two touchdowns in the final period to shellack the Cardinals.

Pittsburgh Steelers handed the hapless Philadelphia Eagles their eighth straight setback without a victory, 7 to 3, before 9556 Smoky City fans.

BRUINS OPEN WITH HAWKS AT GARDEN

"THEY DID IT." Olympics, after being outclassed by Bruins, finally dent strings late in second period. Jack Costello (No. 17) was the boy who registered the score, and he was acclaimed by the full house of hockey hungry fans. But that was the lone score the 'Pics were able to make against the fast-skating professional team. Final: Bruins 11, 'Pics 1.

The Boston Bruins will open their home National Hockey League season at the Boston Garden tomorrow night against the vastly strengthened Chicago Blackhawks who are managed again this year by Paul Thompson.

This will be the first of three successive home games for the Bruins. The Toronto Maple Leafs will play Bruins at the Garden on Sunday night and the Detroit Red Wings will be the visiting team next Tuesday night.

Manager Art Ross will hold daily practice sessions for the Bruins at the Arena smoothing out and shaking down what he feels to be a great Bruins team. The Bruins have played one League game, that against Canadiens on Sunday Nov. 3. The teams played to a 1-1 tie before a capacity house of 12,000 at the Montreal Forum.

Bruins have hopes that Woody Dumart, injured left winger, will be able to return to the lineup by Sunday night. In the meantime, versatile Flash Hollett, one of the outstanding utility players of the League, will play left wing in the Kitchener line. Injury to Eddie Wiseman forced Hollett to play right wing in the Jackson line in the opening game against Canadiens.

The Bruins made their official bow of the season in an exhibition ice tilt with the amateur Olympics and smothered them less experienced rivals to the tune of 11 to 1. Despite the lopsided score which was more or less expected, both clubs gave the near capacity Arena throng an afternoon of colorful hockey. The Bruins could have added more to their total had they opened up but Coach Cooney Weiland held them back for fear of some injury which might have occurred.

As it was, three regular members of the former Stanley Cup holders were missing. Woody Dumart, who is on the injured list, and Red Hamill and Terry Reardon, both of whom are not yet in the Hub.

The Bruins started off with five goals in the opening period and added three in both the second and third quarters. Olympics' only tally was rung up in the middle stanza by Jack Costello on a pass from Gerry Desrosiers.

Red Wings, Rangers In 2-2 Deadlock

DETROIT, Nov. 11 (INS)—The Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers battled to a 2-to-2 tie in their first meeting of the 1940-41 hockey season. The game was marked by hard, bruising play, but only four penalties were called.

It was a turn-about contest with the Red Wings taking the play completely away from the Stanley Cup champions in the first period and the early stages of the second, only to be forced on the defensive from that point on until the end of the overtime period.

The Rangers at the windup were sending five men down the ice in an attempt to achieve their second victory of the season.

Blackhawks Hang Defeat on Canadiens

MONTREAL, Nov. 11 (INS)—The Chicago Blackhawks scored their first National Hockey League victory of the season when they trounced the young Canadiens, 3 to 1, in Montreal.

WILLIAMS NEARING LITTLE THREE TITLE

A week-end loaded with surprises marked the outcome of New England small college football.

The major upset of the day came when Worcester Polytechnic Institute, a team that hadn't won a game all year and had been tossed about by everybody, came up with a stunning 14 to 13 victory over Rensselaer Polytechnic — a team that went into this game with a perfect record.

The second surprise of the day was Norwich's 38 to 7 romp over Vermont. The game figured very close and the rout was never figured. This game gave Norwich a record of seven victories in eight starts, losing only to B. U., the Vermont state title for the first time in years and the leading scorer in the nation. Walter Domina in running up 20 more points brought his total to 106 and put him out front.

Locally it was a bad day. Tufts fell before an in and out New Hampshire outfit 14 to 0 due largely to amazing passing by MacDonald. Northeastern wound up its season with a 12 to 0 loss to St. Anselm.

Williams appears to be a cinch to take the Little Three title. The Purple wrecked Wesleyan 40 to 6 and needs only to take Amherst to be the new title holders. Since Amherst has fallen before Wesleyan and was licked Saturday by Trinity, it's hard to see a Lord Jeff upset next Saturday.

Harvard Eleven On Bruin Trail

Vander Eb kicked successfully and the count was knotted.

Then began the comedy of officiating errors.

Penn was offside on the play.

Therefore, under the rules, Friesell was obliged to ask Bill Brown, acting captain, whether he wanted to waive a five-yard penalty against Penn and keep three points or take the penalty, which would men a first down on the three-yard stripe, and gamble on getting a touchdown.

Friesell suffered a mental lapse. He forgot to ask Brown's pleasure in the matter. This the official had the courage to admit after the game.

He added, at the same time, that the linesman, who called the offside, had asked some players in the Crimson ranks, whose identity nobody would reveal, whether Harvard wanted the penalty. The answer allegedly was "no."

Brown, after the game, further lightened Friesell's burden by asserting he wouldn't have taken the penalty if it were offered him.

BROWN WOULD CONSIDER

We doubt very much, however, that Brown would have turned down such an attractive opportunity to win this game.

We question, too, that if linesman asked another Harvard about the player made a decision.

Officials are only human, like the rest of us and they're entitled to slip up every now and then. But it is too bad that such a slip ruined Harvard's chances to anthoring the biggest upset of the season.

GIRL TEAM ELIGIBLE FOR SHOOT

A case which has been one of much concern is cleared up most satisfactorily today in connection with the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship Competition.

A definite ruling has just been handed down which makes it entirely official that girls' teams are fully eligible for competition in both senior and junior ranks.

That means that the several feminine outfits which have entered formidable teams are acceptable and their entries have been duly certified and entered on the competitive lists.

The national rifle editor of the Hearst Citizen shoot says "Girls' teams are certainly eligible. Frequently they shoot better than men. We are only too glad to have them."

So you girls of the Beverly Girls' Rifle Club and you girls of Sargent College in Cambridge and those other girls who have filed their entries, be it known now that we are only too glad to have you in our shooting midst.

And now if there are any other girls who want to join the fun, send along your entries. Compete against the boys and the men if you so desire.

But most important of all, shoot along the entries at once. As the time for filing them is now growing short.

Pocomoke Indians Franchise Sold

POCOMOKE CITY, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—A change in ownership of the Pocomoke City Club of the Eastern Shore Baseball League appeared likely following announcement that the Salisbury Indians had been sold.

J. R. Eddington, owner of the Pocomoke City Chicks, said he was considering selling the club and that he had discussed a sale with one major league and several minor league buyers.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

NO. 8

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter the contest excepting employes of the Record-American and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win or if you predict a tie game place the letter (T) in the spaces nearest the names of the tying teams.

Calculate the [illegible]AGE score of all competing teams, except that for which you predict a tie score. Write your estimated injury average score in space provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces [illegible] on the coupon. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and then divide [illegible]al by the number of teams competing.

Only ONE solution may be entered by a contestant. All entries must be [illegible] of the Record-American not later than Midnight Friday the day before the games. [illegible] not buy a copy of the Record or American to enter this contest. Tracings of the coupon may be made from copies in the public library or in the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable and given equal consideration with those clipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entries contain all selections correct. In the event more than one person submits perfect solutions $100.00 will be awarded the tying contestant [illegible] average score tabulations most nearly match with actual average scores on the games. If no perfect list of solutions is entered $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct and should two or more contestants tie for this prize the tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the award. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded the person submitting the second largest number of correct solutions and should two or more contestants tie for this prize, tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $1.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain in succession, the next largest number of correct solutions and whose average scores most nearly match the actual scores of the games.

Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Monday, nine days after the games. The decision of the judges in all cases shall be final.

Mail all entries to the Record-American Football Contest Editor, P. O. Box 1897, Boston, Mass.

In the event of postponement of any of the games, such games will automatically be excluded from the contest, in the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed, then that game is automatically excluded.

Dodgers Trip Redskins

By International News Service

The witticism that "everything happens in Brooklyn" still held good today after the Brooklyn Dodgers did what everyone was beginning to believe impossible—beat Slingin' Sammy Baugh and the Washington Redskins in a National Professional Football League game.

The Redskins had won seven consecutive games, and then they came to Brooklyn. There, before 33,846 fervid rooters, the beloved Dodgers paid back the Marshallmen for an early defeat by administering them a 16 to 14 lacing.

The victory, which kept Brooklyn's slim championship hopes flickering, resulted primarily from a safety which was registered when Dick Todd, Washington halfback, after recovering a bad pass from center, was tackled in his own end zone. The act provided Brooklyn with the two winning points.

CUFF IN HOSPITAL

Baugh, who passed 20 yards to Bob Masterson for one Washington touchdown, established a new league record by completing 22 passes in one game. The old mark of 21 completions was set last year by Davey O'Brien of Philadelphia.

The win also put the Dodgers back in second place behind the Redskins in the eastern division. New York Giants dropped into third place by losing to the Cleveland Rams, [illegible] before 23,614 fans.

Ward Cuff, Giants' halfback, was sent to a hospital suffering from a spinal injury as a result of a mishap in the game.

Detroit Lions helped tighten the western division race by rallying in the final 26 seconds to beat the leading Chicago Bears, 17 to 14. The Bears' loss and the Green Bay Packers' 28 to 7 win over the Chicago Cardinals left the Bears with only a one-game lead.

Cotton Price, an unheralded passer from Texas A. & M., flipped a short 3-yard aerial to Lloyd Cardwell in the waning minutes to give the Lions the victory.

EIGHTH STRAIGHT LOSS!

Whizzer White scored a touchdown, and Chuck Hanneman booted a 32-yard field goal for Detroit's other points. Ray McLean and Gary Famiglietti scored one touchdown each for the Bears.

The Packers turned on the heat and pushed over two touchdowns in the final period to shellack the Cardinals.

Pittsburgh Steelers handed the hapless Philadelphia Eagles their eighth straight setback without a victory, 7 to 3, before 9556 Smoky City fans.

"THEY DID IT." Olympics, after being outclassed by Bruins, finally dent strings late in second period. Jack Costello (No. 17) was the boy who registered the score, and he was acclaimed by the full house of hockey hungry fans. But that was the lone score the 'Pics were able to make against the fast-skating professional team. Final: Bruins 11, 'Pics 1.

The Boston Bruins will open their home National Hockey League season at the Boston Garden tomorrow night against the vastly strengthened Chicago Blackhawks who are managed again this year by Paul Thompson.

This will be the first of three successive home games for the Bruins. The Toronto Maple Leafs will play Bruins at the Garden on Sunday night and the Detroit Red Wings will be the visiting team next Tuesday night.

Manager Art Ross will hold daily practice sessions for the Bruins at the Arena smoothing out and shaking down what he feels to be a great Bruins team. The Bruins have played one League game, that against Canadiens on Sunday, Nov. 3. The teams played to a 1-1 tie before a capacity house of 12,000 at the Montreal Forum.

Bruins have hopes that Woody Dumart, injured left winger, will be able to return to the lineup by Sunday night. In the meantime, versatile Flash Hollett, one of the outstanding utility players of the League, will play left wing in the Kitchener line. Injury to Eddie Wiseman forced Hollett to play right wing in the Jackson line in the opening game against Canadiens.

The Bruins made their official bow of the season in an exhibition ice tilt with the amateur Olympics and smothered their less experienced rivals to the tune of 11 to 1. Despite the lopsided score which was more or less expected, both clubs gave the near capacity Arena throng an afternoon of colorful hockey. The Bruins could have added more to their total had they opened up but Coach Cooney Weiland held them back for fear of some injury which might have occurred.

As it was, three regular members of the former Stanley Cup holders were missing. Woody Dumart, who is on the injured list, and Red Hamill and Terry Reardon, both of whom are not yet in the Hub.

The Bruins started off with five goals in the opening period and added three in both the second and third quarters. Olympics' only tally was rung up in the middle stanza by Jack Costello on a pass from Gerry Desrosiers.

Red Wings, Rangers In 2-2 Deadlock

DETROIT, Nov. 11 (INS)—The Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers battled to a 2-to-2 tie in their first meeting of the 1940-41 hockey season. The game was marked by hard, bruising play, but only four penalties were called.

It was a turn-about contest with the Red Wings taking the play completely away from the Stanley Cup champions in the first period and the early stages of the second, only to be forced on the defensive from that point on until the end of the overtime period.

The Rangers at the windup were sending five men down the ice in an attempt to achieve their second victory of the season.

Blackhawks Hang Defeat on Canadiens

MONTREAL, Nov. 11 (INS)—The Chicago Blackhawks scored their first National Hockey League victory of the season when they trounced the young Canadiens, 3-1, in Montreal.

WILLIAMS NEARING LITTLE THREE TITLE

A week-end loaded with surprises marked the outcome of New England small college football.

The major upset of the day came when Worcester Polytechnic Institute, a team that hadn't won a game all year and had been tossed about by everybody, came up with a stunning 14 to 13 victory over Rensselaer Polytechnic — a team that went into this game with a perfect record.

The second surprise of the day was Norwich's 38 to 7 romp over Vermont. The game figured very close and the rout was never figured. This game gave Norwich a record of seven victories in eight starts, losing only to B. U., the Vermont state title for the first time in years and the leading scorer in the nation. Walter Domina in running up 20 more points brought his total to 106 and put him our front.

Locally it was a bad day. Tufts fell before an in and out New Hampshire outfit 14 to 0 due largely to amazing passing by MacDonald. Northeastern wound up its season with a 12 to 0 loss to St. Anselm.

Williams appears to be a cinch to take the Little Three title. The Purple wrecked Wesleyan 40 to 6 and needs only to take Amherst to be the new title holders. Since Amherst has fallen before Wesleyan and was licked Saturday by Trinity, it's hard to see a Lord Jeff upset next Saturday.

Newark Bears Thump Panthers

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 11 (AP)—The Newark Bears soundly thumped the Paterson Panthers, 22-3 in an American pro football association encounter to even their series for the season.

The victory failed to raise the Bears in the standing, however, as Jersey City downed Wilmington to leave the later and Paterson tied for the lead. Jersey City is third and Newark fourth.

Harvard Eleven On Bruin Trail

Vander Eb kicked successfully and the count was knotted.

Then began the comedy of officiating errors.

Penn was offside on the play.

Therefore, under the rules, Friesell was obliged to ask Bill Brown, acting captain, whether he wanted to waive a five-yard penalty against Penn and keep three points or take the penalty, which would men a first down on the three-yard stripe, and gamble on getting a touchdown.

Friesell suffered a mental lapse. He forgot to ask Brown's pleasure in the matter. This the official had the courage to admit after the game.

He added, at the same time, that the linesman, who called the offside, had asked some private in the Crimson ranks, whose identity nobody would reveal, whether Harvard wanted the penalty. The answer allegedly was "no."

Brown, after the game, further lightened Friesell's burden by asserting he wouldn't have taken the penalty if it were offered him.

BROWN WOULD CONSIDER

We doubt very much, however, that Brown would have turned down such an attractive opportunity to win this game.

We question, too, that if linesman asked another Harvard about it, the player made a decision.

Officials are only human, like the rest of us, and they're entitled to slip up every now and then. But it is too bad that such a slip ruined Harvard's chances to authoring the biggest upset of the season.

GIRL TEAM ELIGIBLE FOR SHOOT

A case which has been one of much concern is cleared up most satisfactorily today in connection with the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship Competition.

A definite ruling has just been handed down which makes it entirely official that girls' teams are fully eligible for competition in both senior and junior ranks.

That means that the several feminine outfits which have entered formidable teams are acceptable and their entries have been duly certified and entered on the competitive lists.

The national rifle editor of the Hearst Citizen shoot says "Girls' teams are certainly eligible. Frequently they shoot better than men. We are only too glad to have them.

So you girls of the Beverly Girls' Rifle Club and you girls of Sargent College in Cambridge and those other girls who have filed their entries, be it known now that we are only too glad to have you in our shooting midst.

And now if there are any other girls who want to join the fun, send along your entries. Compete against the boys and the men if you so desire.

But most important of all, shoot along the entries at once. As the time for filing them is now growing short.

Pocomoke Indians Franchise Sold

POCOMOKE CITY, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—A change in ownership of the Pocomoke City Club of the Eastern Shore Baseball League appeared likely following announcement that the Salisbury Indians had been sold.

J. R. Eddington, owner of the Pocomoke City Chicks, said he was considering selling the club and that he had discussed a sale with one major league and several minor league buyers.
